SAYS BERLIN
AIRLIFT WELDS
ALLIED UNITY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
The heroic airlift which finally has forced the raising of the Russian blockade of Berlin has been a labor of Hercules and costly in many respects, but no balance it represents blessings in disguise for the western allies.

U. S. Secretary of Defense Johnson yesterday characterized the carrying out of this task as "one of the greatest transportation feats in history." British Prime Minister Attlee, after seeing the airlift in operation recently, described it as "one of the wonders of the world."

There's no exaggeration in those statements. The airlift has been an unprecedented demonstration of power, of technical skill, of vast resources of courage, of determination—and of allied unity.

Huge Influence
Because the allied airlift represents all these things there is no doubt, as I see it, that it must have a huge influence in welding together the nations of western Europe into the Atlantic pact. That airlift has been a mighty bulwark of morale among the Democracies.

But that isn't the whole story. This gruelling and dangerous task, which even has cost lives, has provided America and her Allies with technical knowledge which could have been acquired in no other way and which might be invaluable in event of another war. As Elton C. Farr, A. P. air expert in Washington, puts it:

"The Berlin lift has provided the air force with a laboratory to determine just how many planes, how much concerted effort of all the military forces would be required to supply a large forward position cut off from normal sea or land supply lines. The air force has learned, among other things . . . how to fly hundreds of planes in a parade of closely-following aircraft in a tight corridor where the weather often was too thick for birds to navigate."

What a difference between this and the days of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71, when Paris startled the world by breaking through the German siege with balloons! These balloons, which were flown when the wind was right, sometimes carried homing pigeons which were liberated to take back news to Paris. The besieged Parisians also sent out 65 balloons carrying a large quantity of mail and 164 people.

Pottsville, Pa., May 7 (AP)—Cass township high school pupils returned to school Friday after a one-day vacation.

The 15 teachers, who had struck for five weeks back pay, agreed yesterday to return to their classes after township school directors had been assured of prompt action by the state Department of Public Instruction on a request for emergency funds.

The high school teachers walked out Monday. The school board said it had no funds to meet their demands and no prospect of meeting the payroll for the next five months. High school classes were taught for one day by elementary instructors.

TWO CRITICIZE
ATLANTIC PACT

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The two sharpest Senate critics of the North Atlantic pact said today it would give the President power to plunge the United States into war without approval by Congress.

Republican Senators Donnell of Missouri and Watkins of Utah both said this unwritten power is a major reason why they are critical of the proposed 12-nation alliance.

"I am convinced now that this is true," Watkins told a reporter, "and that it was intended by those who framed the treaty."

This view is denied by administration leaders and other pact supporters. They argue Congress still would retain the constitutional right to declare war, with the President getting no power other than that he already holds.

But Watkins, quoting the pact as saying that an attack on any member would be met "forthwith" and with "overwhelming" force, said the only way this could be done would be for the President to order immediate armed action.

Donnell agreed. He said the presidential power lies within the language of the treaty. "And once the President has involved us in armed conflict," he added, "Congress has no alternative left."

Both said they have made no decision on how they will vote on the pact.

PEACE MOVE ON
IN FORD STRIKE

Detroit, May 7 (AP)—A peace move in the strike of 65,000 Ford workers was instituted by Dearborn's Mayor Orville L. Hubbard today.

The mayor proposed a meeting of Ford and CIO United Auto Workers' officials at his office next Thursday for a "supreme civic effort" to end the walkout.

There was no early reply either from the company or the union, which are locked in a fight over the UAW-CIO's charge of a "speed-up" in Ford plants.

Since noon Thursday Ford's great Rouge plant in suburban Dearborn and its Lincoln-Mercury factory in Detroit have been idle.

A pinch on small Ford supplier plants was beginning to be felt as the strike entered its third day. A number of shutdowns, and impending closings, were announced. Several thousand men would be affected.

Meanwhile, resentment of strikers toward management was observed on the picket lines at Rouge. This followed Ford's announcement yesterday of the firing of 14 men in connection with wildcat strikes which preceded the union's formal walkout Thursday.

Union sound trucks blared out the word of the discharges, and catcalls came from pickets. There was no trouble, however.

Seek Driver In
Four-Car Mishap

State police today were continuing their search for an unidentified car which they claim caused an accident involving three other vehicles near Caledonia at 12:15 o'clock this morning.

Police said a car driven by Walter Lewis Johnson, 19, an apprentice seaman at the Naval Air Station, Atlantic City, N. J., west on the Lincoln highway at Kimples tavern, was struck by another car. The Johnson auto swerved into the north side of the highway. The parked vehicles were owned by Donald R. Baker, Biglerville and Howard Johns, Shipensburg. Damage totaled $200. No one was injured. The unidentified car continued on its way after the accident.

GIVEN SECOND
DEATH HEARING

Milwaukee, May 7 (AP)—The legally-married preliminary hearing of Milton Babich on a first degree murder charge moves to civil court Monday.

Civil Judge Thaddeus Pruss agreed yesterday to preside at the second preliminary hearing of the 19-year-old former honor student who is accused of murdering Patricia Birmingham, 16.

Pruss took the case after District Judge Harvey Neelen accepted a writ of prejudice filed by the defense and District Judge John Barry disqualified himself. Barry, newly elected, had aided in preparing the Babich case while on the district attorney's staff.

Neelen halted Babich's first preliminary hearing last Wednesday and bound the youth over to municipal court for trial. But District Attorney William McCauley said he thought the hearing had been ended too abruptly and without sufficient evidence having been presented.

Issues New Warrant

So he issued a new first degree murder warrant and then was granted permission to withdraw the original warrant on the same charge. When the case again came up for preliminary hearing yesterday, Chief Defense Counsel Arthur Richter filed his writ of prejudice against Neelen.

Babich is charged with slaying Patricia February 10. Some five weeks later he eloped to Michigan with the victim's sister, Kathleen, who then was 17. They were on the second day of their honeymoon when Pat's body, tied to a concrete building block, was fished from the Milwaukee River, March 20.

The youth maintains he purchased a .22 calibre target revolver to frighten Patricia so she would not reveal that Kathleen was an expectant mother. He stated the girl was killed by accident during a struggle for the weapon.

MOURN ITALY'S
SOCCER SQUAD

Turin, Italy, May 6 (AP)—The death of Italy's championship soccer team in a plane crash here Wednesday was mourned throughout Italy today.

The crash wiped out the "Torino" team of this city—four times national champions and the bulk of Italy's team in international competition.

The three-motor Italian plane plowed into Superga hill, scraped the cathedral which stands there and fell in flames in the cathedral courtyard. A heavy rain was falling. The team was en route home from a game in Lisbon, Portugal.

The job of extricating and identifying the dead continued through the night. The latest reports this morning numbered the victims at 31. They included 18 players, three sports writers, the coach, the managers of the team and the plane's crew.

News of the tragedy affected this soccer-loving country as the mass death of a World Series championship baseball team would hit the United States.

The unexpired term at a special election called by Gov. James H. Duff at the September 13 primary.

Rep. Coffey died in the crash of a jet plane at Albuquerque, N. M., April 20. He was elected to Congress last November.

The Ever Ready class of Zion Reformed Sunday school, Arendtsville, taught by Bradford Peterson, will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peterson.

The age range of eligibility for membership in the Biglerville 4-H is 10 to 20 years instead of 6 to 20 as previously announced.

The CHM club of Biglerville held a dinner-meeting Friday evening at the Molly Pitcher hotel, Carlisle, with 46 members and three guests present. Donald A. Bosserman, president, presided. Clair P. Shillito, chairman of the program committee, was in charge of the entertainment. The Rev. Nevin Smith, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed church, Hanover, was the guest speaker. Included on the program was the showing of two films, "Banff" and "Lake Louise," and "Apples," shown by the courtesy of the Appalachian Apple Service.

A special meeting of the Arendtsville fire company will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the bank building. Plans for the concert to be given by the Gettysburg college band will be discussed.

DUFF HAS BILL
TO PUT CURB ON
LOCAL TAX LAW

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Taxing powers of Pennsylvania's 2,541 school districts will be curbed sharply July 1 if Gov. James H. Duff signs into law new legislation modifying the 1947 local tax law.

The measure prohibiting some levies entirely and imposing ceilings on others bears no effective date. But the justice department was expected to rule, that if it is approved, it will go into effect at the start of the fiscal periods of the various local taxing bodies.

The fiscal period of school districts starts on July 1 and the financial years of cities, boroughs and first class townships in January. Present levies would continue in force, however, until December 31, 1949.

Ceilings Imposed

The proposed law would bar local taxes of any kind on the mining, processing, transportation or storage of coal, natural resources, manufactured or farm products. Local levies on personal property also would be prohibited for all taxing bodies except counties and the city of Pittsburgh.

School districts alone would be prevented from collecting wage or income taxes from non-residents.

In addition there would be these ceilings on permissive levies: Amusements, 10 per cent; retail sales, two per cent; wages, one per cent; sales of real estate, one per cent; per capita levies, $10 a person; Shoe trade, one mill on the dollar volume, retail trade, 1 1/2 mills, except in Pittsburgh, where the retail maximum would be two mills.

And there is also an overall limitation that revenue from such levies cannot exceed what a 10-mill tax on real estate would produce in cities, boroughs and townships and a 15-mill levy in school districts.

Massed Concert
Closes Convention

York, Pa., May 7 (AP)—A parade of 50 bands and a massed concert closes the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bandmasters association here today.

The association is holding its convention here in connection with the 100th anniversary of the City Band of York.

Also unopposed were John Jenny, of Temple university, for vice-president; William March, Norristown, secretary, and Charles Duffield, Chambersburg, treasurer.

Sunbury was selected as the site for the 1950 convention. It will be held the last week in May.

OBSERVANCE OF AMERICAN DAY IS ADVOCATED

The importance of observing "I Am An American Day" on May 15 was stressed by Mrs. Harlow B. Kirkpatrick, Pittsburgh, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a talk at Friday's luncheon given by the Gettysburg chapter of the DAR at the Hotel Gettysburg in honor of Mrs. Kirkpatrick and other state officers.

Recalling the heritage of members of the organization, whose ancestors, she said, fought for American freedom, Mrs. Kirkpatrick said this was a time when all Americans, and members of the DAR in particular, should examine themselves as to "what kind of an American Am I?"

After a brief discussion of the dangers of Communism and Socialism, Mrs. Kirkpatrick spoke of the DAR flags from every state in the union, of uniform size, which are displayed in Washington and used on many state occasions. She announced that a regional meeting of the Central Pennsylvania district will be held at the Bedford Springs hotel, Bedford, June 16.

Miss Alice Black, local regent, presided and introduced the speaker. The invocation was given by Mrs. Harvey Hoover, Gettysburg Theological seminary, and the pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. C. Richard Wolff.

Vocal selections were given by Miss Martha Herman, contralto, and Miss Maude Arund, soprano, both of Gettysburg college. They were accompanied by Donald Swope, also a college student.

Miss Herman sang "Homing Heart," by Mallotte, and "The Elf Man," by Wells, and Miss Arund sang "Italian Street Song," Victor Herbert, and "Desert Song," by Sigmund Romberg.

The dining room of the hotel was attractively decorated with Spring flowers.

Weatherman Uses Magic Word Today

(By The Associated Press)

The weatherman tossed a magic word at Pennsylvanians today.

The word? You guessed it, cooler. That means—if the forecaster is right, which sometimes he is—that the heat wave which has sizzled through the state's 67 counties for three days is just about over.

The mercury nudged over the 90-degree mark in several communities in the state during the hot spell that began Wednesday. And that's unseasonable for this time of the year.

The hottest May 6 in 45 years went into the local weather records here Friday with a reading of 93 degrees. The previous high for the date was 92 taken in 1939. A year ago May 6 brought a cool 64 degrees.

Williamsport reported the highest reading—94 degrees. But others weren't far behind. York recorded 91 and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia each 88. Harrisburg showed 91 and Wilkes-Barre 88.

GRIFFIE HERD TURNED IN BEST RECORD OF YEAR

The herd of B. J. Griffie, York Springs R. 2, had the best average during the past year both in butterfat and pounds of milk of any of the 16 herds in the Adams County Dairy herd improvement association, the annual report of the testers, Charles Klinger and Fred McGhee, disclosed today.

Griffie's herd averaged 1240 cows, which produced an average of 11,709 pounds of milk and 433.8 pounds of butterfat. However, the top honors for a single cow go to Piebe Sasie Echo in the herd of Walter L. Hay, Gettysburg R. 3, who produced during 297 days in milk, 15,924 pounds of milk and 544.2 pounds of fat.

More complete details on the top-ranking cows will be presented to members of the DHIA Thursday evening when they hold a regular meeting at the Agriculture Extension association office at the court house at 8 o'clock.

Six hundred and seven cows were in the association during the whole year, and the total number of cows tested was 675. A total of 138 cows were disposed of during the year, 77 for low production, 19 for dairy purposes and others for various reasons.

The average cow in the association made $267.46 for its owner during the year, the annual report shows. The cows gave an average of 8,431 pounds of milk and 318.5 pounds of butterfat. The total cost of feed on an average was $191.46, and the value of the product from the average cow was $458.92.

Nine of the herds produced an average of over 300 pounds of butterfat. They were Griffie's, and those (Please Turn to Page 8)

Here And There News Collected At Random

United States Senator Edward Martin recently had printed in the Congressional Record a statement on "State and Local History and Americanism" by Dr. Sylvester K. Stevens, state historian for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Senator Martin said that "the understanding of state and local history is most important in impressing upon the people of the United States the real plan of our form of government."

Doctor Stevens' statement follows:

"It is agreed today by most thoughtful people that the best way to combat communism, or any other 'ism,' is the development of a strong spirit of loyalty to our American ideals and institutions. America is today the world custodian for the tolerance, liberty, and free government which are the foundations

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license has been issued by the county clerk of courts 40 Freda Romaine Dayhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Dayhoff, 40 North Stratton street, and J. L. Sheffield, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Sheffield, Henderson, R. 1, Tenn.

Mothers Day

The Gettysburg Times asked Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, to write a special Mothers' Day message for the readers of this daily newspaper. His message follows:

THERE are builders in the world who are laboring to add to the world's possessions. There are builders in the world who are laboring to enable the world to enjoy the possessions it has. They build no bridges, they erect no buildings, but they dedicate themselves to enriching and enlarging human capacity to appreciate and enjoy.

"In the front rank of the world's builders are our Mothers.

"They enter their task young and happy. Through the nursery days, through the days of early youth, through the storms that pass, over our lives, they cling to us with a love that never lets go.

"We grow so accustomed to the love of our Mothers, that we take them for granted. How worthwhile for all of us to have a day set apart in which we pause to appreciate our Mothers. Language may be but an inadequate medium by which our deepest thoughts may be conveyed, yet how precious is a word of love and appreciation. The flower we send, the word we say, the kiss we imprint upon a Mother's forehead—these, while beautiful as passing tributes can never repay a Mother. It becomes our solemn obligation today to firmly resolve that by the life we live, we shall endeavor to repay the investment made in us by devoted Mothers.

"America pauses today to turn away from the objects of passing fancy and things of transient value to turn its face God-ward breathing a reverent—'May God bless Our Mothers,' and make us worthy of them."

Local FFA Boys On Radio Broadcast

Five members of the Battlefield chapter of the Future Farmers of America at Gettysburg high school were heard in a radio broadcast from the Lemoyne station Thursday morning at 11:45 o'clock when they discussed supervised farming activities after being introduced by Elmer H. Schriber, chapter adviser.

The boys who participated were Guy Donaldson, president of the local chapter; Kenneth Biesecker, vice president; Vincent Martin, reporter; George Musselman and Richard Waybright who is reporter for the state FFA organization.

The new owners of the old Adams county jail property took initial steps Friday evening at a meeting of the directors of the Adams County Free Library association to convert the building that served as county prison for nearly a century into "an attractive home for the library upon which the county may look in the future with pride."

Last month the library received title to the East High street property after paying $9,000. They bought the old jail at a public auction conducted by the county commissioners with the whole transaction receiving final approval from the court.

C. A. Cluck, treasurer of the board, was appointed by Mrs. E. S. Lewars, board president, to head the building committee. He will select his own committee which will hold its first meeting on the new library site next Wednesday with J. Alfred Hamme, York architect.

Benson Heads Campaign
O. H. Benson, first president of the library and now its vice president, was named chairman of a finance committee which will seek funds for the improvement of the property and repayment of the $9,000 loan with which the purchase was made. The campaign goal has not yet been determined. Mr. Benson also will choose his committee. The board learned Friday evening that the York architect has offered to give the library his advice on remodeling plans without charge.

Plan Special Meeting
A special meeting of the library directors will be called, likely within the next 10 days, to receive the building committee's initial report which will include suggested plans for renovation of the old jail building and cost estimates.

Removal of the jailyard wall and the cell block has definitely been scheduled by the board but whether both the wall and the cell block will be removed immediately has not been decided. The cell block has been labelled as unusable for library purposes and the wall will be taken down to permit development of the surrounding grounds and remove a hazard that contributed to the original condemnation of the property for prison purposes.

12,808 Loans in Month
The board arranged for immediate insurance coverage of its new property and will give notice to its present landlord, Mrs. Homer N. Young, of its intention to vacate the Carlisle street quarters by October 1.

The monthly report of Miss Anna Farran, librarian, showed the library made 12,808 book loans in April bringing the current total for 1949 to 51,166. Most of the loans were made through the bookmobile which covered 385 miles last month.

Board members were urged in a communication from John Knickerbocker to wire or write Senator Francis Myers to bring out of committee and vote for the library public demonstration bill which already has passed the House. It is Senate Bill 130.

Two Resignations
The board accepted with regret the resignation of Stanislaus Krichten, McSherrystown, and referred to the county commissioners the resignation of Mrs. Naomi Schwartz, Littlestown. Mrs. Schwartz is one of the three commissioner-appointed members of the library board.

Bills for the month totaling $462.75 were ordered paid.

Mrs. Lewars presided at the meeting which was attended by Miss Farran, secretary; Mr. Benson; the Rev. Nevin Frantz, Mr. Cluck, William M. Lott and G. E. R. Smith.

TO SELECT 'MISS ADAMS COUNTY'

William H. Musser and Samuel B. Miller, owners of the local Gettysburg Building Supply company, have been named as chairmen of a "Miss Adams County contest" to be held in connection with the "Miss America" eliminations this summer.

Leroy K. Strine, general chairman of the Miss Adams County and Miss York County contests sponsored by the Young Businessmen's Association of York, said that Musser and Miller were selected to the post because of the part they took two years ago in a similar contest as members of the Young Businessmen's group of York.

Two years ago Miss Janice Sachs was selected as Miss Adams county and became one of the five finalists in the state.

Eliminations In June
Strine pointed out that the contest is open to girls who are between 18 and 28, unmarried, and are either a high school graduate or a senior in high school. The contestants for (Please Turn to Page 2)

That number would be the largest in the history of the school which reached a high of 93 undergraduate students during the World War 13 years. He also spoke on plans to remodel or replace the present dormitory at the seminary which has been in use since 1832.

Dr. Robert Hershey, pastor of Holy Trinity church, Philadelphia, spoke on the subject "Seconds."

Named as officers of the Friends of the Seminary were: Rev. John D. Forster, Stoyestown, president; Carl L. Schaeffer, Westminster, vice president; Mrs. J. Alfred Hamme, York R. 7, secretary, and Mrs. Frank W. Luebbe, Johnstown, treasurer.

The Friends voted to continue the project of refurbishing the refectory at the seminary and heard reports of articles already purchased by the group as part of the project.

Beryl B. Maurer, president of the student body at the seminary, spoke on "An Engineer Looks at the Ministry" and the seminary quartet sang, "Lo, a Voice to Heaven Sound-ing," "Old Ark's a-Moverin'" and "Savior, Again to Thy Dear Name."

C. L. Price, Baltimore, retiring president, presided at the session. Dr. Wentz urged the group to continue the practice of sponsoring "pilgrimages" to the seminary and said that about 20 groups made trips to the seminary during the past year. Representatives of 12 chapters of the Friends of the Seminary at-tended the session.

SAYS BERLIN
AIRLIFT WELDS
ALLIED UNITY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The heroic airlift which finally has forced the raising of the Russian blockade of Berlin has been a labor of Hercules and costly in many respects, but no balance it represents blessings in disguise for the western allies.

U. S. Secretary of Defense Johnson yesterday characterized the carrying out of this task as "one of the greatest transportation feats in history." British Prime Minister Attlee, after seeing the airlift in operation recently, described it as "one of the wonders of the world."

There's no exaggeration in those statements. The airlift has been an unprecedented demonstration of power, of technical skill, of vast resources of courage, of determination—and of allied unity.

Huge Influence

Because the allied airlift represents all these things there is no doubt, as I see it, that it must have a huge influence in welding together the nations of western Europe into the Atlantic pact. That airlift has been a mighty builder of morale among the Democracies.

But that isn't the whole story. This grueling and dangerous task, which even has cost lives, has provided America and her Allies with technical knowledge which could have been acquired in no other way and which might be invaluable in event of another war. As Elton C. Fay, A. P. air expert in Washington, puts it:

"The Berlin lift has provided the air force with a laboratory to determine just how many planes, how much concerted effort of all the military forces, would be required to supply a large forward position cut off from normal sea or land supply lines. The air force has learned, among other things . . . how to fly hundreds of planes in a parade of closely-following aircraft in a tight corridor where the weather often was too thick for birds to navigate."

What a difference between the days of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71, when Paris started the world by breaking through the German siege with balloons! These balloons, which were flown when the wind was right, sometimes carried homing pigeons which were liberated to take back news to Paris. The besieged Parisians also sent out 65 balloons carrying a large quantity of mail and 164 people.

Woman Hacks Her
Husband's Head Off

Shell Lake, Wis., May 7 (AP)—A hysterical Wisconsin farm woman early today told officials she had hacked her husband's head off with an axe because he "continually beat me and the children."

Sheriff Floyd Bannister of Washburn county said he was holding without charge Mrs. Florence Conley, 45, after officers found the body of her husband, Phillip, also 45, his head nearly severed, in a bed at the family's home three miles north of here.

Coroner Harry Dahl said Conley's jugular vein and the vertebrae of his neck had been cut through last night about 10 p. m. A bloody axe found in the farmyard was used in the killing, he reported.

Teachers, Pupils
Return To School

Pottsville, Pa., May 7 (AP)—Cass township high school pupils returned to school Friday after a one-day vacation.

The 15 teachers, who had struck for five weeks back pay, agreed yesterday to return to their classes after township school directors had been assured of prompt action by the state Department of Public Instruction on a request for emergency funds.

The high school teachers walked out Monday. The school board said it had no funds to meet their demands and no prospect of meeting the payroll for the next five months. High school classes were taught for one day by elementary instructors.

TWO CRITICIZE
ATLANTIC PACT

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The two sharpest Senate critics of the North Atlantic pact said today it would give the President power to plunge the United States into war without approval by Congress.

Republican Senators Donnell of Missouri and Watkins of Utah both said this unwritten power is a major reason why they are critical of the proposed 12-nation alliance.

"I am convinced now that this is true," Watkins told a reporter, "and that it was intended by those who framed the treaty."

This view is denied by administration leaders and other pact supporters. They argue Congress still would retain the constitutional right to declare war, with the President getting no power other than that he already holds.

But Watkins, quoting the pact as saying that an attack on any member would be met "forthwith" and with "overwhelming" force, said the only way this could be done would be for the President to order immediate armed action.

Donnell agreed. He said the presidential power lies within the language of the treaty. "And once the President has involved us in armed conflict," he added, "Congress has no alternative left."

Both said they have made no decision on how they will vote on the pact.

PEACE MOVE ON
IN FORD STRIKE

Detroit, May 7 (AP)—A peace move in the strike of 65,000 Ford workers was instituted by Dearborn's Mayor Orville L. Hubbard today.

The mayor proposed a meeting of Ford and CIO United Auto Workers officials at his office next Thursday for a "supreme civic effort" to end the walkout.

There was no early reply either from the company or the union, which are locked in a fight over the UAW-CIO's charge of a "speed-up" in Ford plants.

Since noon Thursday Ford's great Rouge plant in suburban Dearborn and its Lincoln-Mercury factory in Detroit have been idle.

A pinch on small Ford supplier plants was beginning to be felt as the strike entered its third day. A number of shutdowns, and impending closings, were announced. Several thousand men would be affected.

Meanwhile, resentment of strikers toward management was observed on the picket lines at Rouge. This followed Ford's announcement yesterday of the firing of 14 men in connection with wildcat strikes which preceded the union's formal walkout Thursday.

Union sound trucks blared out the word of the discharges, and catcalls came from pickets. There was no trouble, however.

Seek Driver In
Four-Car Mishap

State police today were continuing their search for an unidentified car which they claim caused an accident involving three other vehicles near Caledonia at 12:15 o'clock this morning.

Police said a car driven by Walter Lewis Johnson, 19, an apprentice seaman at the Naval Air Station, Atlantic City, N. J., west on the Lincoln highway at Kimple's tavern, was struck by another car. The Johnson auto swerved into two parked cars on the north side of the highway. The parked vehicles were owned by Donald R. Baker, Biglerville and Howard Johns, Shippenburg. Damage totaled $200. No one was injured. The unidentified car continued on its way after the accident.

Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, Sr., of Upper Yoder Township, Cambria county, filed yesterday as Democratic candidate for the 26th Congressional district seat.

At the same time, similar petitions were filed with the state Elections Bureau for John P. Saylor, Johnstown attorney, as the Republican nominee.

The two will oppose each other for

GIVEN SECOND
DEATH HEARING

Milwaukee, May 7 (AP)—The legally-snarled preliminary hearing of Milton Babich on a first degree murder charge moves to civil court Monday.

Civil Judge Thaddeus Pruss agreed yesterday to preside at the second preliminary hearing of the 19-year-old former honor student who is accused of murdering Patricia Birmingham, 16.

Pruss took the case after District Judge Harvey Neelen accepted a writ of prejudice filed by the defense and District Judge John Barry disqualified himself. Barry, newly elected, had aided in preparing the Babich case while on the district attorney's staff.

Neelen halted Babich's first preliminary hearing last Wednesday and bound the youth over to municipal court for trial. But District Attorney William McCauley said he thought the hearing had been ended too abruptly and without sufficient evidence having been presented.

Issues New Warrant

So he issued a new first degree murder warrant and then was granted permission to withdraw the original warrant on the same charge. When the case again came up for preliminary hearing yesterday, Chief Defense Counsel Arthur Richter filed his writ of prejudice against Neelen.

Babich is charged with slaying Patricia February 10. Some five weeks later he eloped to Michigan with the victim's sister, Kathleen, who then was 17. They were on the second day of their honeymoon when Pat's body, tied to a concrete building block, was fished from the Milwaukee River, March 20.

The youth maintains he purchased a .22 calibre target revolver to frighten Patricia so she would not reveal that Kathleen was an expectant mother. He stated the girl was killed by accident during a struggle for the weapon.

SOCCER SQUAD

Turin, Italy, May 6 (AP)—The death of Italy's championship soccer team in a plane crash here Wednesday was mourned throughout Italy today.

The crash wiped out the "Torino" team of this city—four times national champions and the bulwark of Italy's team in international competition.

The three-motor Italian plane plowed into Superga hill, scraped the cathedral which stands there and fell in flames in the cathedral courtyard. A heavy rain was falling. The team was en route home from a game in Lisbon, Portugal.

The job of extricating and identifying the dead continued through the night. The latest reports this morning numbered the victims at 31. They included 18 players, three sports writers, the coach, the managers of the team and the plane's crew.

News of the tragedy affected this soccer-loving country as the mass death of a World Series championship baseball team would hit the United States.

the unexpired term at a special election called by Gov. James H. Duff at the September 13 primary.

Rep. Coffey died in the crash of a jet plane at Albuquerque, N. M., April 20. He was elected to Congress last November.

John (Spike) Gartland, captain and coxswain of the Navy crew, is the first cox to captain a Midshipman crew since 1934.

Upper Communities

The Ever Ready class of Zion Reformed Sunday school, Arendtsville, taught by Bradford Peterson, will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peterson.

The age range of eligibility for membership in the Biglerville 4-H is 10 to 20 years instead of 6 to 20 as previously announced.

The CHM club of Biglerville held a dinner-meeting Friday evening at the Molly Pitcher hotel, Carlisle, with 46 members and three guests present. Donald A. Bosserman, president, presided. Clair F. Shillito, chairman of the program committee, was in charge of the entertainment. The Rev. Nevin Smith, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed church, Hanover, was the guest speaker. Included on the program was the showing of two films, "Banff" and "Lake Louise," and "Apples," shown by the courtesy of the Appalachian Apple Service.

A special meeting of the Arendtsville fire company will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the bank building. Plans for the concert to be given by the Gettysburg college band will be discussed.

DUFF HAS BILL
TO PUT CURB ON
LOCAL TAX LAW

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Taxing powers of Pennsylvania's 2,541 school districts will be curbed sharply July 1 if Gov. James H. Duff signs into law new legislation modifying the 1947 local tax law.

The measure prohibiting some levies entirely and imposing ceilings on others bears no effective date. But the justice department was expected to rule, that if it is approved, it will go into effect at the start of the fiscal periods of the various local taxing bodies.

The fiscal period of school districts starts on July 1 and the financial years of cities, boroughs and first class townships in January. Present levies would continue in force, however, until December 31, 1949.

Ceilings Imposed

The proposed law would bar local taxes of any kind on the mining, processing, transportation or storage of coal, natural resources, manufactured or farm products. Local levies on personal property also would be prohibited for all taxing bodies except counties and the city of Pittsburgh.

School districts alone would be prevented from collecting wage or income taxes from non-residents.

In addition there would be these ceilings on permissive levies: Amusements, 10 per cent; retail sales, 20 per cent; wages, one per cent; sales of real estate, one per cent; per capita levies, $10 a person; Shoe trade, one mill on the dollar volume, retail trade, 1½ mills, except in Pittsburgh, where the retail maximum would be two mills.

And there is also an overall limitation that revenue from such levies cannot exceed what a 10-mill tax on real estate would produce in cities, boroughs and townships and a 15-mill levy in school districts.

Massed Concert
Closes Convention

York, Pa., May 7 (AP)—A parade of 50 bands and a massed concert closes the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bandmasters association here today.

The association is holding its convention here in connection with the 100th anniversary of the City Band of York.

Charles W. Coleman, supervisor of instrument music at Sunbury high school, heads the list of new officers to be installed today. Coleman was unopposed as a candidate for president.

Also unopposed were John Jenny, of Temple university, for vice-president; William March, Norristown, secretary, and Charles Duffield, Chambersburg, treasurer.

Sunbury was selected as the site for the 1950 convention. It will be held the last week in May.

The eliminations will be held in York in June and the winner of the Miss Adams County title and the winner of the York County title, both of whom will be selected at the same time, will compete for the title of Miss Pennsylvania against similar winners from other counties. The state winner will take part in the national Miss America contest.

Talent, character, poise, personality and physical beauty, in that order, will be the basis for judging, Strine said. He said that the talent could range from musical or public speaking ability to cooking.

Young women interested in entering the contest were asked to contact Musser or Miller for information and application blanks.

NEXT GIRL SCOUT
COURT IN FALL

At a meeting of the Adams County Girl Scout Leaders' club Wednesday evening at Christ Lutheran church it was voted to postpone the court of awards until next fall.

It was announced that Miss Janet Tobitt, a member of the program division of the National Girl Scout organization, will come here in October to teach songs and folk dances to club members.

At a dinner on June 27 for the council leaders, leaders will be elected to go to Camp Edith Macy for a summer course.

Leaders were instructed to find out how many scouts will be taking the swimming courses to be offered by the Red Cross this summer and report the number to the scout headquarters.

Alfred Lunt, superintendent of the National cemetery, a former forest ranger in Maine, talked on "Nature."

Refreshments were served by the Brownie leaders of Gettysburg.

The next meeting on June 15 will be an out-door meeting at a site to be announced.

WEST GERMANS
SAYS NO TO REDS

Bonn, Germany, May 7 (AP)—Western Germany has said "no" to Communist pleas to halt formation of its proposed new state.

Her political leaders, meeting here last night, completed all but the final formalities of adopting a west German constitution. They scheduled the last step of adoption for tomorrow, the fourth anniversary of Germany's surrender in World War II, and voted to place government in the hands of an interim organization until a regular government can be formed in July.

The constitutional convention clearly was speeding its work to beat the Wednesday midnight deadline for lifting the German blockades under the New York agreement announced Thursday by Russia and the western powers.

The western occupation powers want the west German government to be the one for all Germany if there is an eventual union of the Soviet zone with the American, British and French zones.

The developments came as Russia and the western allies worked at top speed to lift their blockades at midnight, Wednesday. The actual work will be done by German transportation experts.

The task involves complex technical problems, and the complicating threat of a rail workers strike. Employees who live in western Berlin but work on Russian-controlled rail links in the eastern sector, threatened to strike unless they are paid in west marks. They now receive Soviet-backed east marks, which are worthless in the western sector.

Michigan State's three varsity football coaches all are graduates of other schools—Clarence Munn from Minnesota, Forest Evashevski from Michigan and Hugh Daugherty from Syracuse.

BULLETS UPSET TEMPLE OUTFIT BY 8-4 SCORE

After spotting their opponents' three runs in the top half of the first inning, the Gettysburg college baseball team came from behind to defeat Temple university here Friday afternoon 8-4.

Ronnie Fitzkee relieved Don Young in the first inning and twirled five balls the remainder of the contest to gain credit for the victory.

Four straight hits off Young and another hit by T. Burn produced three Owl runs in the first frame. Singles by Weand and Cervino, plus an outfielder error on Weand's blow, gave the Bullets a run in the first.

In the third frame, Weand singled, moved to second when Cervino drove a pass, moved to third on a wild pitch and then stole home.

Gettysburg took the lead in the fourth after Temple added another run in their half. Hummel walked, Brown singled and Kierker sacrificed. Hummel scored on Fitzkee's fly to right and on a throw to third base the ball went through with Brown and Kierker also knocking home.

In the seventh Novak singled and scored on Jones' homerun along the left field foul line.

This afternoon at 2:30 the Bullets clash with F. and M. on the local field.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)
Trenton's Giants inched closer to Wilmington in the Interstate league flag chase today thanks to a neat three-hit pitching performance by respected Don Robertson.

Robertson tied the Sunbury Reds in knots last night after Left Fielder Bob McLean homered in the second inning. The Reds had counted an unearned run in the first inning. Trenton tied the count at 2-2 in the fifth, pushed across the winning markers in the seventh, and won out, 7-2.

Allentown plunged York deeper in the cellar with a 10-7 victory while Lancaster squeezed past Hagerstown 3-2 in other games.

439 Trackmen In MASCAA Meet Here

New York, May 7 (AP)—The middle Atlantic states Collegiate Athletic association's track and field meet at Gettysburg, Pa., May 13 and 14 has attracted 438 athletes from 19 colleges.

The list on entries released yesterday by ASA S. Bushnell, commissioner of eastern college athletics, shows that Lafayette has entered the largest number of runners, jumpers and weightmen. Fifty men will represent the Easton, Pa., school.

Other entries:
Albright 20, Alfred 47, Bucknell 27, Delaware 29, Dickinson 17, Drexel 24, Franklin and Marshall 25, Gettysburg 28, Haverford 14, Juniata 23, LaSalle 13, Lebanon Valley 13, Lehigh 15, Muhlenberg 30, Pennsylvania Military college 8, St. Joseph's 36, Swarthmore 28 and Ursinus 14.

Sport Shorts

State College, Pa., May 7 (AP)—Penn State and Army held the lead today in the regional playoffs of the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association. Penn State's defending champions downed Pitt in the opening round yesterday, while Army opened Cornell.

Morning matches today sent Penn State against Cornell and Army against Pitt. The final round in the afternoon will bring Penn State against Army and Cornell against Pitt. The winning team will compete next week in the eastern championships at River Vale, N. J.

Philadelphia, May 7 (AP)—The Army-Navy football game will be played at Philadelphia's municipal stadium three of the next four years. This was announced yesterday by representatives of the U. S. military and naval academies and Mayor Bernard Samuel.

The contract calls for the 1949 game to be played here November 26 with an option for either the 1950 or 1951 game to be played elsewhere. But, said Capt. Howard H. Caldwell, director of Athletics at Annapolis, "it is unlikely the option will be used."
The option, he said, is "merely to provide a loophole in event something unforeseen occurs which would make it desirable to play one game elsewhere."

BLAZE RAZES LAVISH TRACK

Inglewood, Calif., May 7 (AP)—Hollywood Park, one of America's most lavish race tracks, was razed by a $5,000,000 fire early Friday but some 600 thoroughbred horses were spared. Exact cause of the blaze was not known but police arson squads started immediate investigations because of the speed with which the fire spread. They detained two men and a boy for questioning but released them later.

The fire started in the swank clubhouse of the multi-million dollar plant and leaped, within minutes, through the grandstand and Turf Club. Shortly after the roof and upper walls of the clubhouse and Turf Club burned away, the walls began to crumble. Huge chunks of masonry fell, and sent firemen running for their lives.

One fireman was seriously injured as all available Inglewood equipment plus some from Los Angeles vainly fought the wind-swept blaze. Some three hours after the blaze was first reported at 11 p. m., PST, it was under control.

The stands were a total loss but the valuable horses on hand for the coming meeting were saved because of the stables' location a half-mile from the main racing oval.

News Notes

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The United States and Britain fire their opening guns today in an unprecedented peacetime radio war with Russia.

In an attempt to smash through a Soviet news blockade, they planned to use a battery of 61 transmitters, all blasting at once, to hurl a barrage of Russian-language broadcasts in the direction of Moscow.

Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen announced the campaign yesterday.

London, May 7 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today Britain, France and the United States will hold preliminary talks in Paris before sitting down with Russia in the Big Four Conference on Germany May 23.

The spokesman said the three powers would be represented by "senior persons" at the pre-conference talks. The French Foreign office already has announced that Dr. Philip Jessup, U. S. ambassador-at-large, is flying to Paris this week-end.

London, May 7 (AP)—The United States has called upon the other ten nations of the Far Eastern Commission to relax control of Japan's foreign and economic policies. American diplomats reported today.

Gettysburg high school's undefeated baseball season came to an end Friday afternoon when the unbeaten Chambersburg high team scored a 2-0 victory in a South Penn league game played on the Trojan's field.

The game resolved itself into a beautiful hurlers' duel between Ronnie Kump of the Warriors and Miller. Kump permitted but three hits, fanned nine and did not issue a base on balls. Miller gave up four blows, whiffed 11 and walked five.

Chambersburg's runs came in the second frame. Fitzgerald led off with a homerun and after the next batter was retired Waters hit safely to right and when the ball escaped the fielder he also circled the bases.

Ken Biesecker punched out two of Gettysburg's four singles.

Next Tuesday the Warriors meet Shippensburg here in another league game.

Eastern League

Rain proved a blessing to Rollie Schuster, Scranton hurler. Three storms last night aided him in pitching a five-inning, 3-0, no-hitter against Williamsport in the Eastern Baseball league.

The 20-year-old right-hander was never in trouble. The game, at Scranton, was delayed twice by downpours and finally halted at the end of the fifth.

Schuster never lost his fast ball or showed the effects of the chilling rain. He struck out six. Two of the four walks he issued came in the fifth, which was completed in a steady drizzle.

Next week's game between East Berlin and York Springs on the latter's field could very easily decide the championship of the Adams County Scholastic Baseball league.

Both teams topped their third straight victories Friday to remain unbeaten in league competition. York Springs trounced Littlestown 10-5 on the latter's field. G. Guise paced the victors with three of his team's nine safeties.

A homerun by Hoopes with K. Myers on third base in the ninth inning, broke up a tight pitchers' battle at East Berlin, the home team defeating Biglerville 3-1. Bill Moul's hurling was again outstanding as he permitted but one hit, a double by Pitzer in the seventh, the only Canner ball to be hit to the outfield. He whiffed 16 and at one stretch retired five batsmen on 14 pitches, four of whom struck out. Pitzer was also an efficient hurler but lacked hitting support.

In a wild game at New Oxford the Bolling Springs team pounded out a 19-1 verdict, scoring in every inning but the fifth. Bream secured four of the Bubbler's 21 safeties.

CHINESE REDS FORM ALLIANCE IN KOREA, BURMA

By TOM LAMBERT

Shanghai, May 6 (AP) — Chinese Communists have joined in a Russian-blessed alliance with North Korean Reds, the official Chinese Central News agency said Thursday.

The Communist action was announced as part of "the joint struggle against American and British imperialism," the Nationalist agency said.

If true, the "mutual defense pact" would stretch a 3,500-mile Red arc from the Sea of Japan to the Indian ocean—an arc encompassing hundreds of millions of people. There was no confirmation of the pact from other sources, however.

New Red Drives

Chinese Red armies meanwhile slashed across south central China, with these developments reported:

1. As Government forces prepared to yield Hankow, shaky central China fortress-city, a Red offensive posed a sharpening threat to their escape route. The Red drive was nearing Nanchang, midway between Shanghai and Canton, and seemed aimed at Changsha as well. Changsha, 175 miles farther inland, is on the rail line 200 miles south from Hankow.

2. Formosa sources reported the return of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek from Red-encircled Shanghai to that big island haven. By coincidence, one Formosan newspaper only a day ago called many government officials flocking to that island

Auxiliary Postpones Plans For Box Social

Announcement has been made by the officers of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Ocker Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, that the box social previously announced to be held in connection with the regular monthly meeting next Wednesday evening has been postponed because the post has engaged "Raymond" the magician to present his show of magic that evening in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

A short business meeting of auxiliary has been called for 7 p. m. and the business will be completed in ample time for the performance at 8 o'clock.

DECLARES REDS URGED CONTROL OF U.S. RAILMEN

New York, May 6 (AP)—Communist leaders in St. Louis taught party members that Red control of railroad workers was vital to the success of a revolution in the United States, a government witness says.

The testimony about Communist activities in the important railroad and industrial center was given Wednesday by Thomas A. Younglove, an FBI undercover agent.

Younglove, a St. Louis business man, told a federal court jury about Communist concentration on railroad workers.

His story—based on four years in the Communist movement as an FBI informant—fitted into the government's city-to-city and industry-to-industry tracing of an alleged Red plot for armed revolt.

Attended Secret Meeting

Younglove testified that he attended a secret party meeting at Missouri state headquarters in St. Louis in June, 1946.

The witness said that Otto Wangerin, the party's railroad organizer, urged at the meeting that all Communist members get behind "concentration" in the railroad industry.

Younglove declared:

"Wangerin quoted Lenin as saying we could never hope to have a successful revolution without having the railroad workers with us."

The witness, testifying against 11 top Communist leaders charged with conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government, spent all day on the stand telling about Communist party affairs in Missouri.

KILLED ON HIGHWAY

Wrightsville, Pa., May 6 (AP)—William Calloway, 54, of Paoli, Pa., was killed last night in an automobile-truck collision on the Lincoln highway. State Policeman C. J. Shovelin said Calloway's car struck the parked truck of Henry J. Miller, 21, of York. Calloway died instantly of a skull fracture, Shovelin said. Miller, who told the state trooper he parked along the highway to sleep, was not hurt.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE ACHE OF THE HEART

Most of us, sooner or later—become heirs to some sort of ache—in our muscles, bones, ears or teeth. But the most disturbing ache of all is that ache we all experience in life—the ache of the heart.

This is an ache that many people carry with them all their lives, for some reason or other. Mere medicine cannot cure it. Doctors are baffled, by it. But it can be cured—at least alleviated. We alone, however, can give it the proper diagnosis. Then it is up to each of us to handle it.

The ache in the heart may come from disappointment, from the loss of a beloved one, from a failure to appraise life's values, from a loss of hope of faith or from a confused mind. Perhaps fears add more to this ache of the heart than anything else.

A good cry has often relieved this ache in the heart, but it's only a temporary remedy. What we need most is a reconstructed attitude of mind, a careful appraisal of values, and a return to the fundamental guide-posts of life that are to be found in an unflinching faith—as revealed in religion. God in us will wipe out the severest ache of the heart, and point us to the lights just beyond the hills.

We have but to look into the revelations and miracles of Nature to become alert to the forces in human life that carry one into the path of courage and high resolves. This human frame of ours is wrapped in mysteries. Higher laws than those of our own making control our destiny. Be not afraid!

Often, by seeking to relieve the ache in another's heart, our own ache somehow miraculously disappears! By intermixing our joys with those of others, and enumerating our endless blessings, we suddenly realize that the ache we had wasn't real at all! What we needed was to share ourselves with someone else.

HEREDITY
My grandfather's fingers were skillful with things.

They could pry into watches and regulate springs.

They could tighten or loosen or And whatever was needed my grandpa could do.

My grandfather's mind, as his fingers, was skilled.

With knowledge most useful, I'd say, it was filled.

When in trouble the neighbors for grandpa would send,

For whatever was broken he knew how to mend.

They say that heredity follows in line,

But skill didn't pass to these fingers of mine.

Machines which grandfather well understood

I can't understand, though I wish that I could.

There's nothing that's broken that I can repair.

If grandpa left skill, I was robbed of my share.

And often I've wondered, regretting it, too,

Why I've never known what my grandfather knew.

STEELWORKERS TAKE LEAD FOR 4TH ROUND RAISE

Pittsburgh, May 7 (AP)—Philip Murray's United Steelworkers are taking the lead in demanding a fourth-round pay boost. And some of Murray's other big CIO unions are going to follow the leader.

John L. Lewis, president of the Unaffiliated United Mine Workers, also wants more benefits for his half-million soft coal diggers.

That's the picture in industrial America today—the "big four" of industry—steel, auto, coal and electrical workers—want more money now and a guarantee of security in the future.

Decide On Demands

The CIO United Steelworkers' Wage Policy Committee ended a three-day huddle of top strategists Thursday by asking not only for an unspecified wage hike but a pension program and health and welfare benefits for 1,116,000 members.

Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers, wouldn't estimate the total cost of his union's demands to the steel industry. He did estimate, however, the insurance program would cost 8.4 cents per man, per hour.

The CIO leader long has been in favor of pensions for his members, along with other social security benefits. He's become more insistent on pensions since John L. Lewis obtained them for his UMW members.

The UMW finances its $100-a-month pensions out of a health and welfare fund financed entirely by 20-cents-a-ton royalty payments by coal operators. There's every indication Lewis will ask the operators to up the royalty payments in the contract expiring June 30. And a source close to the bushy-browed UMW chief says Lewis probably will ask a shorter work week—at the same rate of pay as at present.

Throughout Murray's CIO union empire, there's more and more talk about social security for union members. There's talk, too, about wage hikes but the emphasis seems to be on pensions and welfare plans. The CIO United Auto Workers, for example, has declared pensions the No. 1 objective in forthcoming wage talks. President Walter Reuther hasn't announced a definite wage pattern but has said an increase will be asked. He talks about bringing back the purchasing powers the approximately 1,000,000 UAW members had in June, 1946. To reach that level, Reuther adds, a wage boost of at least eight to 10 cents an hour would be needed.

ASK RULING ON SALARY RAISES

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Five top state officials today looked to the attorney general's office to determine whether they will receive a legislature-passed salary boost.

The increases were held up late Thursday when Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn requested a formal opinion on the legal questions involved from Attorney General T. McKeen Chidsey. Heyburn, himself, would be included under the new pay scale.

"I don't want an increase if I'm not entitled to it and I don't believe anyone else does either," Heyburn explained to newsmen.

In one of its final actions, the 1949 General Assembly hiked the salary of the next governor from $18,000 to $25,000 a year and those of cabinet officers to $15,000. The paychecks of many state board and commission members also were substantially increased.

However, the state constitution bars increases or decreases in salary for any public officials after his election or appointment.

Heyburn was elected auditor general last November and took office last Tuesday, five days after the legislature approved the boost in salary for his office from $12,000 to $15,000 a year.

State Treasurer Charles R. Barber also was elected last fall and took office May 2. He too, would receive $15,000 annually instead of the former $12,000.

Others immediately affected by Heyburn's action include Theodore Roosevelt III, the new commerce secretary; David R. Perry, the new liquor board member, and John B. Conly, public utility commissioner.

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Edmund Wicht, executive director of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association, went to the Hahnemann hospital, in Philadelphia, Thursday for a physical checkup. Wicht's office said he would be in the hospital a week or ten days.

of Gettysburg college brought to a close a successful year's work at the annual May tea held Tuesday afternoon in the social rooms of Christ Lutheran church with almost 100 members in attendance. Mrs. Dunning Idie presided.

Mrs. Howard S. Fox gave the following report for the nominating committee: President, Mrs. Idie; vice presidents, Mrs. Lester O. Johnson, Mrs. George R. Larkin, Miss Virginia Barton, Mrs. E. F. Strausbaugh, Mrs. Mervin U. Bream, Mrs. C. Ross Shuman and Mrs. LeRoy Winebrenner; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry T. Bream; statistical secretary, Mrs. John G. Glenn; treasurer, Miss Anna Cairns.

Break Ground For Widow's New Home

York, Pa., May 7 (AP)—The widow and five children of a Navy veteran can look forward today to a new five-room home due to the generosity of York county residents.

Emmanuel C. Rohrbaugh died of leukemia in a New York hospital last December leaving his wife, Mable, and five tiny children penniless. Shortly after his death, they were evicted from their tenant farm with three of the children ending up in the York county home.

A newspaper heard of their plight and $7,200 in individual contributions was raised plus offers from unions and contractors to build the house.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Wednesday with Mrs. Rohrbaugh turning over the first shovel-ful of earth.

In Springtime true love will always find a highway.

Where's It Going?

In seeking the reason for high oil consumption few car owners consider the possibility of actual leakage, the usual fear being that the car is due for new piston rings. Before going off the deep end the situation always calls for checking the valve compartment which may have loose cover plates or poor gaskets. Oil stands in this compartment when the engine is at rest and will leak out if not properly sealed.

Much oil also escapes around the rear of the motor pan and is often mistaken for oil working into the clutch housing past a worn rear main bearing or defective bearing seal. Leakage around the timing gear case is common enough to be considered when oil mileage is low. Don't forget the crankcase drain plug which will leak a lot of oil if loose or if its threads are stripped.

Worried Over Clicks

An uncomfortable number of motorists are worrying these days over annoying clicking noises, just as if this were something new in the motor scene. When such noises are heard with the car in motion the trouble is likely to originate in the speedometer cable. Clicking at idling speed, heard when the car is moving slowly or when standing with the engine running, may be due to wobbling of the distributor shaft. In other cases it is found that the fan blades are touching something. Clicks are commonly found around the wheels, too. They may be due to nothing more serious than a wheel cap.

Keep These In Mind

That air cleaner on the engine isn't just an efficiency frill, so don't drive around with it removed. One of its functions is to serve as a backfire trap.

Rough roads, taken at too high speed, will knock the front end out of alignment quite as effectively as bumping curbs.

If you can get along with that small leak in the cooling system better wait until you have drained off the winter's anti-freeze before you put in some stop-leak solution. Don't use radiator or cleanser because that may make the leak worse.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"As a rule, I'm not one to pass out alibis, but this time I'm making an exception. Here's why:

"My excuse for not solving a customer's problem was none other than our old friend, the weather. When my client brought in his car for some special lubrication he complained about a squeaky spring and a peculiar noise in one of the shock absorbers. Under ordinary conditions I could have solved this with flying colors, but when I took the car out for a test in the rain I couldn't get an unwanted sound out of it. Rain water acted as a temporary lubricant to check those elusive squeaks. When the owner took the car out the next day things were as bad as ever."

Forerunners Of Change

Believe it or not, accessories sometimes are a clue to coming changes in car design. Just before the center gear shift was discarded in favor of steering post shifting one concern offered a silver plated shift lever ball with your initials engraved on it. Can it be that the flood of new jacks for the car forecast use of jacks built into the car? The finest leaf spring covers were developed just before designers adopted coil springs, and a lot of genius was expended on devices to equalize brakes just before the industry swung over universally to hydraulic braking.

That prodigious producer of automotive books and publications, Floyd Clymer of California, has several new ones to whet the appetite of those who keep their eye to the motor mill. One is titled, "How to Build a Racing Car" which goes into such meaty topics as supercharging and souping up stock engines. Another recent edition is a supplement to the Indianapolis race book which is a "must" if you plan to be an active observer of the 1949 500-mile motor classic. The third new Clymer book to come across my desk is Veda Orr's newly revised "Hot Rod Pictorial." Miss Orr is the only woman member of the Southern California Timing Association. She has been driving what are called Modified and Streamliners on the Dry Lakes of California since 1937, her best time being 132 m. p. h. officially clocked.

No Fooling Here

Some things about the car's front-end geometry come about as a result of normal wear and tear, or tampering by those who do not fully understand the particular make and model, but if the king pin inclination isn't correct it is reasonable to suspect that the parts involved have been bent through misuse of the car. If the history of the car reveals no such conditions, however, then the parts may have been defective. In any event, the situation calls for a replacement.

Slow On Pick-up?

Where an engine develops satisfactory pulling power on hills but is slow on acceleration there's a good chance that it suffers from several conditions that could easily be remedied. Its spark plug points may be spaced too wide, for one thing. In fact, almost any ignition conditions, especially breaker points, will affect the get-away. Acceleration is always unsatisfactory if ignition timing is late. Then there is the possibility that the engine isn't drawing a sufficient amount of gasoline, due perhaps to a little dirt in the carburetor. Important here is the carburetor acceleration pump.

So This Is Driving?

Ever carry a pot of tulips or a canary bird in your car? Foolish transportation, to be sure, but sometimes very enlightening. You will want to make the ride as easy as possible for the fragile blossoms or the nervous little fluff of yellow, but for the first time in your life you find that your gear shifting is anything but smooth and your handling of the brakes a bit on the rough side. A waving tulip really brings one up with a start.

What Motorists Ask

Q. What would cause the motor of my car to run so rough when hot? Idling is entirely normal when the engine is cold. M. B. L.

A. This is likely a fuel condition, something on order of mild vapor lock. Try to get the operating temperature down, and also switch to another brand of gas. Another point to consider is the valve tappet clearance. One or two valves may not be seating when the valves are heated and their stems expanded.

Q. I have been told that I can check a leak in the radiator by putting some chipped soap or soap flakes into the cooling system. Ever hear of this? Wm. L. K.

A. It's an old trick and not recommended because usually a cooling system so treated needs to be bled out.

Q. My car rides very hard in spite of the fact that I have installed new tires and am riding with the pressures lower than normal. I have also had a man check the shock absorbers. There are no broken spring leaves. K. R., Jr.

A. But what about the condition of the springs themselves? You may find some rusted leaves. This may happen even where springs are covered for the reason that after many miles of service the covers actually hide neglect.

Q. There is excessive backlash in the drive line of my car. We have checked the universal joints themselves and find no appreciable wear. Is it possible for the pinion and ring gear mesh to be loose enough for such slack in the drive line? I might add that there is enough noise in the rear end to indicate any such condition. T. McB.

A. One thing so many owners seem to forget is wear on the splines of the propeller shaft slip joint.

Q. There's a most disturbing squeak somewhere in the front of my car. Can't seem to locate it even though I have checked about everything in sight including the motor mounts. A friend of mine suggests that the noise may be telegraphed from the rear of the car somewhere, but where? S. M. G.

A. What do you want to bet that you have overlooked the hood lacing? This may simply be dry or it may be disintegrated. You can lubricate the lacing with a grease stick.

Q. When my car is at rest with the motor running there is a peculiar noise. The owner of a similar car tells me that this is something in the fluid clutch, but he doesn't know just what is wrong. I should say that the noise is a combination of a grind and a whine. Can you make anything out of this? H. H. G.

A. Yes, this has all the earmarks

Or Maybe Lana Turner?

Just what do you expect to get out of life? A home, six kids, And a beautiful wife? Diamond rings, And block-long cars, A wicker basket full of stars? Or yet that proverbial Cottage small; And no work in winter, Spring or fall? We can't give you even One of these, But if it's service you seek, We're here to please.

TRUMANITES BEING PUSHED AROUND IN D.C.

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The campaign promises of President Truman's Democrats—the promises of what they'd do if they won control of Congress this year, which they did—are beginning to look pretty sad.

On two of the biggest issues—civil rights and a new labor bill—the Truman administration so far has been shoved around although neither of those two issues is definitely settled yet.

Republicans and southern Democrats have teamed up on both issues against the Democrats who followed the lead of Mr. Truman and the campaign promises of his Democratic party last November.

Democrats Not Solid
Organized labor and Negroes—one with a big stake in a new labor law and the other with its hopes pinned on new civil rights law—gave huge support to the Truman Democrats in the elections.

For the Trumanites had promised both groups to push through new laws to their liking, on civil rights and on labor. The Democrats won control of both Houses of Congress, with a majority in each. But—

Not all the Democrats, particularly the southern Democrats, follow Mr. Truman's leadership.

Opponents Join Forces
And when the Republicans and southern Democrats join forces—as they have so far on labor and civil rights—Mr. Truman's Democratic followers find themselves in a minority.

Take the labor bill, for example—Labor wanted the Taft-Hartley law knocked out and the old Wagner act restored. The difference between the two laws was simply this: the Wagner act put no restrictions on labor but T-H put on plenty.

So the Trumanites offered a bill in the House to wipe out T-H and bring back the Wagner act, with a few changes. But last week, when arguments on a new labor law started, a bill introduced by Rep. Wood, Georgia Democrat, got the attention.

Compromise Loses
This bill would keep the T-H act, except for a few changes, pretty much as it was passed in 1947. The Republicans controlled Congress then, although a lot of Democrats voted for T-H, too.

Seeing they were losing out, the Trumanites Tuesday tried to get through a compromise bill, a little stronger than their first one. It got knocked aside in a hurry.

Then the House, with Republicans and southern Democrats joining forces, voted for the Wood bill. This was a temporary vote. The vote for the bill Tuesday was 217 to 203.

Trumanites Lost
As for the civil rights issue—

There was a pretty good showdown on this earlier in this session when southern Democrats and Republicans joined forces again.

There was a three weeks' filibuster at that time. It wasn't over the civil rights issue precisely. But the civil rights issue was at the heart of the discussion.

The filibuster was over a change in the rules. If the Trumanites had won they'd have a fair chance of getting some kind of action on civil rights bill at this session.

But the Trumanites lost and the chance of the Senate voting on civil rights this year looks dim.

REDS POUNDING SHANGHAI LINES

Shanghai, May 7 (AP)—Thousands of Chinese Communist troops today hammered with little success at Shanghai's outer defenses, a garrison communique asserted.

The communique said 15,000 Reds in two groups attacked on two sectors 30 miles west and 35 miles northwest of Shanghai. The defenders assertedly hurled the Reds back with heavy losses.

Another attack still swirled about a third anchor in Shanghai's defense arch—Kashan, 50 miles to the southwest. The communique indicated the Reds were making little progress here.

Red spearheads, however, appeared to be thrusting ever deeper into south China along a notched front of more than 300 miles stretching southwestward from the Shanghai area to Nanchang.

Press reports said that Nanchang, the city which guards the eastern approaches to the vital Hankow-Canton railroad, was in a state of siege. Chinese Communist columns, already more than 150 miles south of their Yangtze bridgeheads, were seizing more stretches of the railway which once linked Shanghai with Nanchang.

Peddler of Dreams

By Peggy Dern

Chapter 12

A few days after Thanksgiving, Ma Green's Trailer Camp had a surprise visitor. It was Susan Fleming.

Felicity was busy giving the trailer a thorough cleaning. "I would be!" she wailed hollowly to herself as Susan stood on the bottom step looking at her curiously.

"Forgive me for dropping in like this. But I knew you hadn't come to the beach and—well, I wanted you too. So I came over to invite you especially."

"That's awfully nice of you," said Felicity, and felt a little less uncomfortable, because of Susan's matter-of-fact manner. "But we've found a place up north of Jupiter that's not private, and nobody seems to mind our using it."

Susan's face flushed a little, and she said swiftly, "But you mustn't let the children go swimming just anywhere along the coast. There are places that are unsafe. My beach is always patrolled and the two new bodyguards I've hired for the baby are expert swimmers and ex-lifeguards. The children must learn to swim, and since Larry is a bit too young to keep them busy—why don't you let them teach your youngsters?"

"Thank you, but I couldn't think of being such a bother—"

Susan put out a beautifully kept hand, on one finger of which a star sapphire caught the sunshine and held it prisoner. "Don't be stuffy," she coaxed gently. "I know my butler was insolent that day, and I'm terribly sorry—but that exquisite child of yours who walked away with my baby seemed a very interesting person, and I'm anxious to know the rest of you. Please come over tomorrow afternoon and we'll have a picnic on the beach—please?"

"But—you must be awfully busy—"

Susan was slightly amused.

"I'm a lonely, bored, restless creature, and it would be an act of Christian charity, no less, if you would bring the children—and that very nice young man of yours—and come over tomorrow afternoon! Now be a good child and say you will!"

Felicity could think of no more objections and, to her own surprise, found she really didn't want to offer any more. She yielded as gracefully as she could, and Susan smiled and took herself off.

Garrett came over, his hair tousled, his shirt collar open at the throat, straight from his morning's work.

"That looked like Susan Fleming," he said as he lounged in the doorway and studied Felicity.

"It was none other," she assured him. "Come to invite us all to a picnic on her private beach beside her private ocean tomorrow afternoon. She wants her son's bodyguards to teach the children how to swim."

"Does she, now?" Garrett was amused, impressed.

"And you're invited, too," Felicity said, and told herself privately she was a fool to feel a very small tinge of jealousy at the memory of the way Susan had said "that very nice young man of yours."

Garrett looked startled.

"Well, why on earth should she want me? I can swim by myself," he protested.

"I wouldn't know, only she invited you especially," said Felicity firmly. "Of course, I didn't tell her definitely you'd come. I could tell her you were working—"

"Perish the thought," protested Garrett piously and promptly. "I wouldn't miss it for the world. A chance to see how the other half lives—only the Fleming set wouldn't be half, would it. There can't be more than half a dozen women in the world with as much money as Susan Fleming has."

Felicity nodded and looked grave. "Somehow, it doesn't look like such an awful lot of fun, though—having that much money—does it?" She spoke straight from her heart.

Garrett looked down at her, amusement and affection nicely mingled in his eyes.

"You're going to make some lucky man a very swell wife some day, Fliss, my gal," he assured her. Suddenly he didn't feel amused any more. The thought of Felicity as another man's wife wasn't amusing at all. He definitely didn't like it.

"I'm never going to marry," Felicity said, without meeting his eyes. "What—never?"

She looked up at him steadily and her soft mouth was grave. "How can I?" she asked levelly. "With the youngsters to look after?"

Garrett definitely didn't like that, either.

"Oh, now see here, Fliss, you can't go on sacrificing yourself for the children all your life. You'd make a perfectly swell wife and mother. A girl like you should get married—"

He heard himself protesting sharply.

"He'd have to be a pretty swell man to want to take over the children along with me. And unless he was willing, I wouldn't marry him—so—you see?"

Garrett stared at her, frowning, obscurely angry, yet not quite sure just what attitude he should take to reveal to her the way he felt.

Felicity ended the moment by saying swiftly, "You'd better run along now, Garry and get your heroine out of the clutches of the villain. I've got a lot of work to do before the children come home."

MAETERLINCK, AUTHOR, DIES

Paris, May 7 (AP)—Count Maurice Maeterlinck, famed Belgian author of "The Blue Bird" and other works, died in Nice Friday, the French Press agency reported. He was 86.

Maeterlinck's works are noted for their fanciful beauty. Among the most famous are "Pelleas Et Melisande," made into an opera by the French composer Claude Debussy; "The Blue Bird," "The Life of the Ant" and "The Life of the Bee."

Maeterlinck was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1911.

Most of his later years were spent on the French Riviera, but when the Germans moved on Paris in 1940 Maeterlinck fled to the United States with his wife, arriving in New York Dec. 7, 1940. In January, 1941, he made one of his rare public appearances, attending the first English-language presentation of the opera, "Pelleas Et Melisande," by the Philadelphia opera company. "The Blue Bird" brought Maeterlinck his greatest popularity in the United States. It was widely popular in the form of a motion picture starring Shirley Temple.

George Earnshaw, now the Philadelphia Phils' pitching coach, won 98 games and lost 58 in six seasons as a pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics.

OBSERVANCE OF AMERICAN DAY IS ADVOCATED

The importance of observing "I Am An American Day" on May 15 was stressed by Mrs. Harlow B. Kirkpatrick, Pittsburgh, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in a talk at Friday's luncheon given by the Gettysburg chapter of the DAR at the Hotel Gettysburg in honor of Mrs. Kirkpatrick and other state officers.

Recalling the heritage of members of the organization, whose ancestors, she said, fought for American freedom, Mrs. Kirkpatrick said this was a time when all Americans, and members of the DAR in particular, should examine themselves as to "what kind of an American Am I?"

After a brief discussion of the dangers of Communism and Socialism, Mrs. Kirkpatrick spoke of the DAR flags from every state in the union, of uniform size, which are displayed in Washington and used on many state occasions. She announced that a regional meeting of the Central Pennsylvania district will be held at the Bedford Springs hotel, Bedford, June 16.

Miss Alice Black, local regent, presided and introduced the speaker. The invocation was given by Mrs. Harvey Hoover, Gettysburg Theological seminary, and the pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. C. Richard Wolff.

Vocal selections were given by Miss Martha Herman, contralto, and Miss Maude Arund, soprano, both of Gettysburg college. They were accompanied by Donald Swope, also a college student.

Miss Herman sang "Homage Heart," by Malotte, and "The Elf Man," by Wells, and Miss Arund sang "Italian Street Song," by Victor Herbert, and "Desert Song," by Sigmund Romberg.

The dining room of the hotel was attractively decorated with Spring flowers.

Weatherman Uses Magic Word Today

(By The Associated Press)
The weatherman tossed a magic word at Pennsylvanians today.

The word? You guessed it, cooler. That means—if the forecaster is right, which sometimes he is—that the heat wave which has sizzled through the state's 67 counties for three days is just about over.

The mercury nudged over the 90-degree mark in several communities in the state during the hot spell that began Wednesday. And that's unreasonable for this time of the year.

The hottest May 6 in 45 years went into the local weather records here Friday with a reading of 93 degrees. The previous high for the date was 92 taken in 1939. A year ago May 6 brought a cool 64 degrees.

Williamsport reported the highest reading—94 degrees. But others weren't far behind York recorded 91 and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia each 88. Harrisburg showed 91 and Wilkes-Barre 88.

Damage By Lightning
To add to the discomfort, sections of the state were lashed by rain. (Please Turn to Page 7)

REV. BROWN TO BE GAR MEMORIAL SPEAKER MAY 29

The Rev. Clyde R. Brown, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, will be the speaker Sunday afternoon, May 29, at the annual Grand Army of the Republic Memorial service to be held at the post rooms of the Gettysburg camp, Sons of Union Veterans.

Plans for the annual services were outlined Friday evening at a meeting of the SUV at its building on East Middle street. The May 29 program will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will be open to the public.

Judge W. C. Sheely will preside as master of ceremonies at the annual Memorial Day exercises May 30 at the National cemetery. Attorney William L. Meals, of the Memorial Day committee reported. He also announced that the Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox, pastor of the local Trinity Evangelical Reformed church, will deliver the invocation at the exercises at the cemetery. GRIFFIE HERD TURNED IN BEST RECORD OF YEAR

The herd of B. J. Griffie, York Springs R. 2, had the best average during the past year both in butterfat and pounds of milk of any of the 16 herds in the Adams County Dairy herd improvement association, the annual report of the testers, Charles Klinger and Fred McGhee, disclosed today.

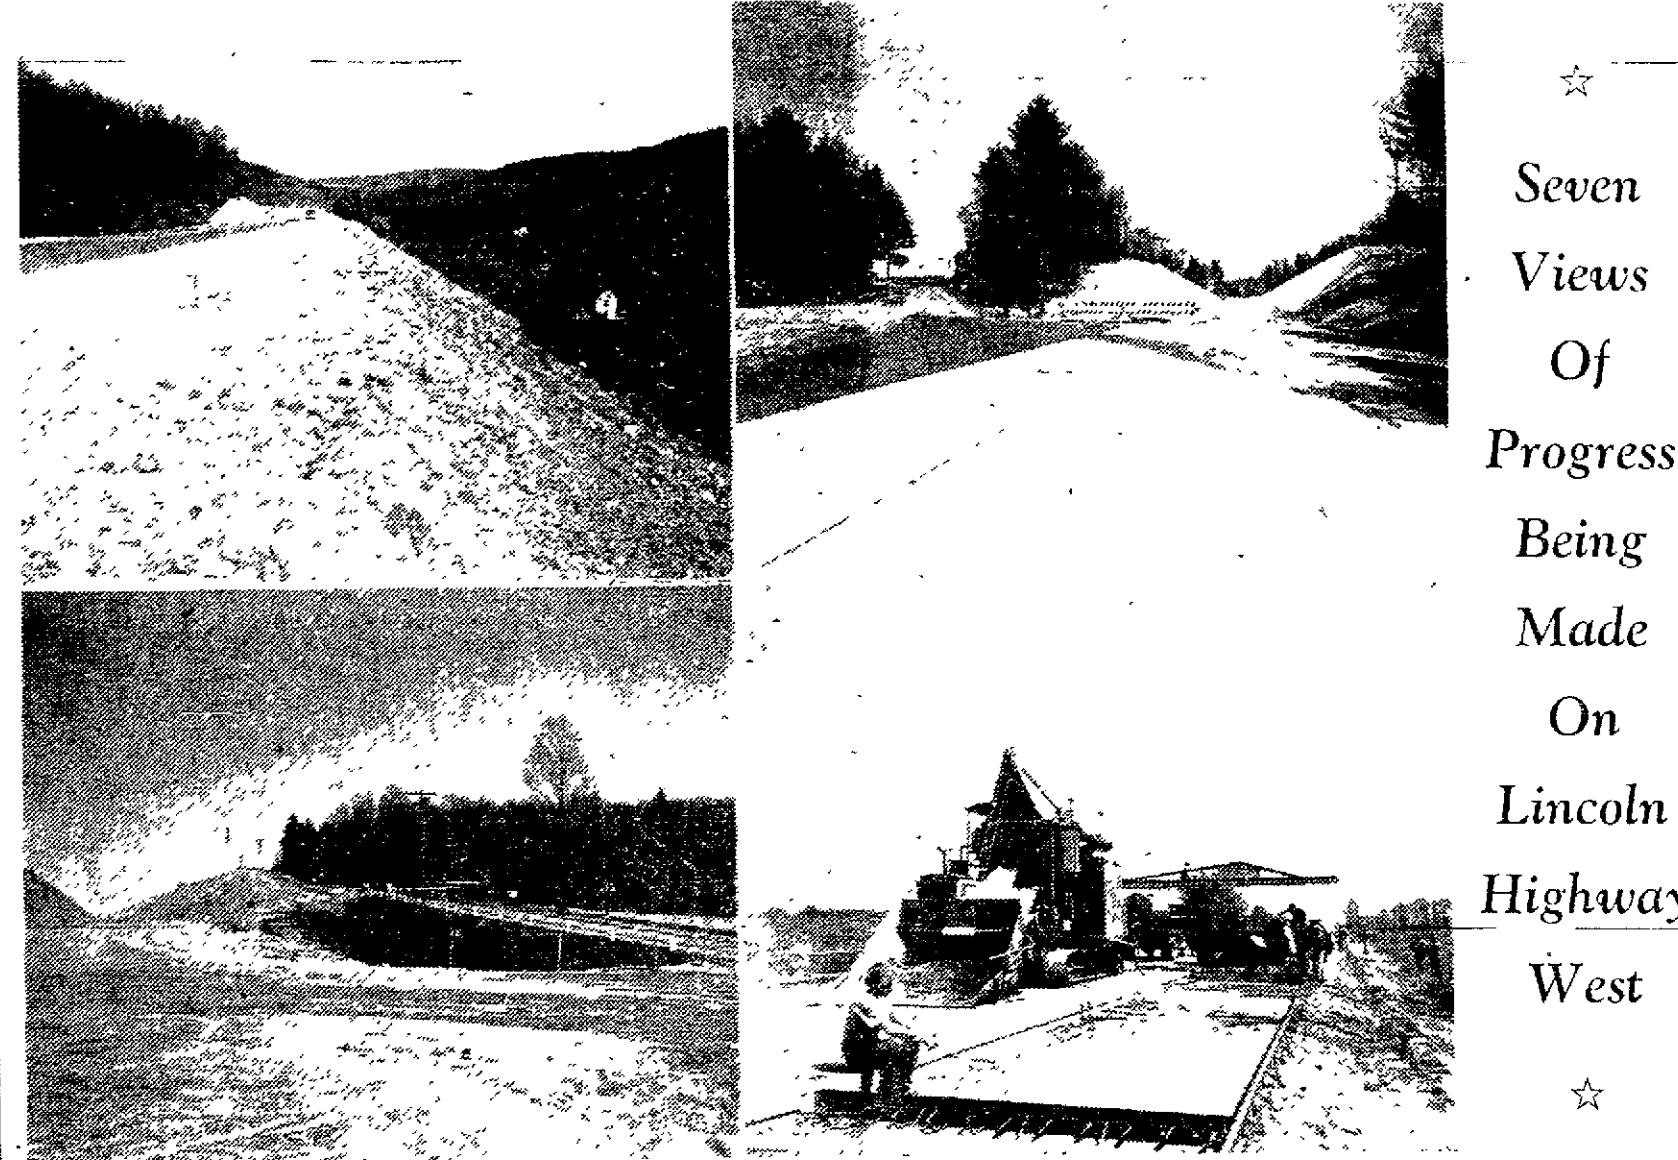

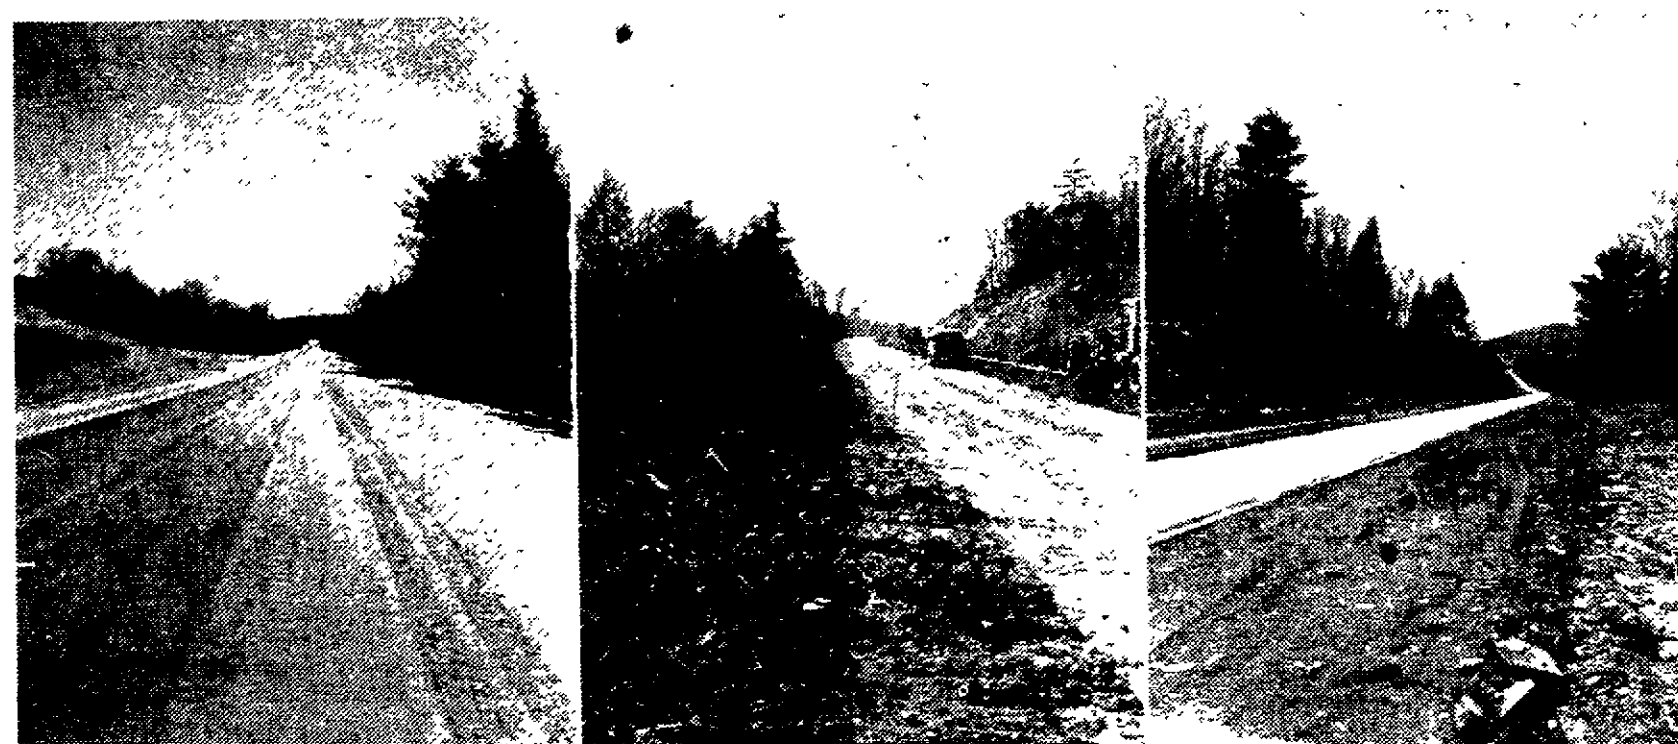

Griffie's herd averaged 12.40 cows, which produced an average of 11,709 pounds of milk and 433.8 pounds of butterfat. However, the top honors for a single cow go to Piebe Sasie Echo in the herd of Walter L. Hay, Gettysburg R. 3, who produced during 297 days in milk, 15,924 pounds of milk and 544.2 pounds of fat.

More complete details on the top-ranking cows will be presented to members of the DHIA Thursday evening when they hold a regular meeting at the Agriculture Extension association office at the court house at 8 o'clock.

Six hundred and seven cows were in the association during the whole year, and the total number of cows tested was 675. A total of 138 cows were disposed of during the year, 77 for low production, 19 for dairy purposes and others for various reasons.

The average cow in the association made $267.46 for its owner during the year, the annual report shows. The cows gave an average of 8,431 pounds of milk and 318.5 pounds of butterfat. The total cost of feed on an average was $191.46, and the value of the product from the average cow was $458.92.

Nine of the herds produced an average of over 300 pounds of butterfat. They were Griffie's, and those (Please Turn to Page 8)

Here And There News Collected At Random

United States Senator Edward Martin recently had printed in the Congressional Record a statement on "State and Local History and Americanism" by Dr. Sylvester K. Stevens, state historian for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Senator Martin said that "the understanding of state and local history is most important in impressing upon the people of the United States the real plan of our form of government."

Doctor Stevens' statement follows:

"It is agreed today by most thoughtful people that the best way to combat communism, or any other 'ism,' is the development of a strong spirit of loyalty to our American ideals and institutions. America is today the world custodian for the tolerance, liberty, and free government which are the foundations (Please Turn to Page 3)

AIR FORCE ROLE RESERVES' TOPIC

The part played by the air force in providing information for the ground forces in the army was outlined by Lt. Col Raymond C. Whisler Friday evening at a meeting of Company E, 315th Infantry, a local Army Reserve unit. The session was held in the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post home on Baltimore street.

Colonel Whisler and the Rev. Frank R. Reynolds, Littlestown minister who was a chaplain in World War II, were the two speakers at the session. Chaplain Reynolds spoke on the duties of the divisional chaplain.

The air force to a large extent has replaced the cavalry as the "eyes" of the army, Colonel Whisler pointed out, adding that however, the cavalry continues, in the form of the mechanized troops, to play a large part in securing information vital to the army.

Balloons were used during the Civil War in an attempt to get high enough to see what the enemy was doing. Whisler added, "And in a sense that was the beginning of the modern air force. At the start of World War I the only duty of the air force was that of reconnaissance. Later in the war, planes were used for bombing and were armed that they might fight off enemy planes. It was not until World War II that the air force was used on a huge scale as a tactical and strategic force to destroy the enemy. But despite the emphasis on the duties of bombing and strafing the enemy, the air force continues to have a duty of keeping the army informed on what goes on behind the enemy lines."

The new Lincoln highway from McKnightstown west to Chambersburg is expected to be open to traffic in August. The Gettysburg Times presents a picture-story of the progress made thus far.

Local FFA Boys On Radio Broadcast

Five members of the Battlefield chapter of the Future Farmers of America at Gettysburg high school were heard in a radio broadcast from the Lemoyne station Thursday morning at 11:45 o'clock when they discussed supervised farming activities after being introduced by Elmer H. Schriver, chapter adviser.

The boys who participated were Guy Donaldson, president of the local chapter; Kenneth Biesecker, vice president; Vincent Martin, reporter; George Musselman and Richard Waybright who is reporter for the state FFA organization.

The new owners of the old Adams county jail property took initial steps Friday evening at a meeting of the directors of the Adams County Free Library association to convert the building that served as county prison for nearly a century into "an attractive home for the library upon which the county may look in the future with pride."

Last month the library received title to the East High street property after paying $9,000. They bought the old jail at a public auction conducted by the county commissioners with the whole transaction receiving final approval from the court.

C. A. Cluck, treasurer of the board, was appointed by Mrs. E. S. Lewars, board president, to head the building committee. He will select his own committee which will hold its first meeting on the new library site next Wednesday with J. Alfred Hamme, York architect.

Benson Heads Campaign

O. H. Benson, first president of the library and now its vice president, was named chairman of a finance committee which will seek funds for the improvement of the property and repayment of the $9,000 loan with which the purchase was made. The campaign goal has not yet been determined. Mr. Benson also will choose his committee.

The board learned Friday evening that the York architect has offered to give the library his advice on remodeling plans without charge.

Plan Special Meeting

A special meeting of the library directors will be called, likely within the next 10 days, to receive the building committee's initial report which will include suggested plans for renovation of the old jail building and cost estimates.

Removal of the jailyard wall and the cell block has definitely been scheduled by the board but whether both the wall and the cell block will be removed, immediately has not been decided. The cell block has been labelled as unusable for library purposes and the wall will be taken down to permit development of the surrounding grounds and remove a hazard that contributed to the original condemnation of the property for prison purposes.

12,800 Loans in Month

The board arranged for immediate insurance coverage of its new property and will give notice to its present landlord, Mrs. Homer N. Young, of its intention to vacate the Carlisle street quarters by October 1.

The monthly report of Miss Anna Farran, librarian, showed the library made 12,800 book loans in April bringing the current total for 1949 to 51,168. Most of the loans were made through the bookmobile which covered 385 miles last month.

Board members were urged in a communication from John Knickerbocker to wire or write Senator Francis Myers to bring out of committee and vote for the library public demonstration bill which already has passed the House. It is Senate Bill 130.

Two Resignations

The board resigned with regret the resignation of Stanislaus Krichen, McSherrystown, and referred to the county commissioners the resignation of Mrs. Naomi Schwartz, Littlestown. Mrs. Schwartz is one of the three commissioner-appointed members of the library board.

Bills for the month totaling $462.75 were ordered paid.

Mrs. Lewars presided at the meeting which was attended by Miss Farran secretary; Mr. Benson; the Rev. Nevil Prantz, Mr. Cluck, William M. Lott and G. E. R. Smith.

TO SELECT 'MISS ADAMS COUNTY'

William H. Musser and Samuel B. Miller, owners of the local Gettysburg Building Supply company, have been named as chairmen of a "Miss Adams County contest" to be held in connection with the "Miss America" eliminations this summer.

Leroy K. Strine, general chairman of the Miss Adams County and Miss York county contests sponsored by the Young Businessmen's Association of York, said that Musser and Miller were selected to the post because of the part they took two years ago in a similar contest as members of the Young Businessmen's group of York.

Two years ago Miss Janice Sachs was selected as Miss Adams county and became one of the five finalists in the state.

Eliminations In June

Strine pointed out that the contest is open to girls who are between 16 and 28, unmarried, and are either a high school graduate or a senior in high school. The contestants for (Please Turn to Page 2)

CONTROVERSY EXPECTED ON TROOP QUESTION

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Russia's expected proposal to withdraw all occupation troops from Germany is regarded here as one of the most difficult issues the Western powers will have to meet at the Big Four Ministers' conference in Paris late this month.

Indications are that the United States, Britain and France are yet to decide exactly how they will deal with the proposition if the Russians put it forward. There is no present evidence that they will accept any such demand.

State Department experts are now working intensively on this and other problems expected to arise at the Paris meeting which opens May 23. On most if not all these other problems the unified American-British-French position is determined.

Unification Is Objective
Plans already are under way for creation of a Western German government, thus far developed against Russian opposition. Those plans will form the basis of Western proposals for a government for all Germans.

Economic and political unification of the Soviet and Western zones is an objective of the Western powers. In working toward this they will insist that the Soviets agree to take down the barriers which now restrict communications between the two areas.

The Western nations also are determined that the unification of all Germany must permit true personal freedom and Democratic political institutions for the entire nation. This large order would mean a radical change in the system prevailing under the Russians.

Truman Comments
President Truman summed up the general state of affairs to a news conference yesterday in commenting on the new agreement for ending the Berlin blockade. He remarked that he is happy the four nations can now take up their negotiations where they left off 10 months ago. He im-

State Civil Service Announces Exams

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—The State Civil Service Commission today announced written examinations to fill about 40 statistical jobs will be held in nine Pennsylvania cities on June 25.

The commission reported the jobs pay annual starting salaries ranging from $2,496 to $5,772. Deadline for filing applications for the examinations is May 26.

The tests will be held at Allentown, Dubois, Erie, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre and Williamsport.

Candidates must be citizens and legal residents of Pennsylvania for at least one year prior to submitting applications.

The jobs range from director of research and statistics down to junior assistant statistician. The positions exist in the various agencies serviced by the commission.

Syracuse has an all-veteran varsity crew this season—every man from last year's eight has returned. John P. (Stuffy) McInnis, Harvard baseball coach, was a member of Connie Mack's famous "$100,000 infield."

pled that this is in his view the real meaning of the Berlin agreement.

There are, however, some notable differences from the situation that existed when the blockade was imposed by the Soviets last summer. The Eastern and Western positions appear to have become more frozen than they previously were and the three Western powers have achieved virtually complete understanding on what they want in Germany. Russia faces the need to deal not with three separate nations having their own differences but with three nations consolidated, so far as Germany is concerned, into a single bloc.

storms and high winds yesterday. High water from thunder showers sent Solomon's creek near Wilkes-Barre overflowing its banks and halted traffic on the Old River road between Wilkes-Barre and Nanticoke.

Storm Causes Damage

The brief but violent electrical storm swept central Pennsylvania with 43-mile-per-hour winds. Lightning struck a barn on the farm of Cletus Miller three miles from New Bloomfield and caused a fire which destroyed the structure. A bolt also hit a steeple of the Presbyterian church at New Bloomfield, but caused little damage.

Yesterday the weatherman said there'd be more thundershowers today but he changed his mind in today's forecasting.

The word for most of the state: cooler, less humid and cloudy.

News From Littlestown

LETTER THANKS RESIDENTS FOR GIFT OF BOOKS

The following letter, addressed to the citizens of Littlestown who contributed to the collection of books and periodicals which were sent by the Rotary club to be used in the library of the Military Government at Bavaria, Germany, was received from Francis C. Lindaman, son of Mrs. Certe Lindaman, East King street, who is liaison security officer for the military government there and who requested that an effort be made to send books.

"The generous response to my appeal for books and magazines has earned you the gratitude of the entire county of Gunzburg, whose population is about 40,000. I also want to express to you my personal appreciation and to say that your cooperation has helped to further the military government's democratization program and has aided me greatly in my efforts to show the citizens of communities under my jurisdiction what it means to live in a free nation like America.

"Visitors to our little library are fascinated by your copies of Life, Holiday, Readers Digest and so on. They are especially impressed by the National Geographic which most of them had never seen before.

Some of the teachers were most grateful to have available the text books which were included in one of the boxes. Even though conditions have improved in Germany since the currency reform last July, most of the schools still have no text books. History, geography, mathematics, languages all have to be taught to the pupils by lectures or copying from blackboards.

Old Books Destroyed

"It is very difficult for the teacher and a great shame for the children. You see, American Military Government in 1945, removed practically all of the currently used school books from the class room, because they all glorified the Nazi ideology. Since then, of course there has not been sufficient money paper or print to publish new ones, hence the schools have to manage as best they can with the books.

Now that Germany has been freed of one kind of totalitarianism, it like the rest of the world, is threatened by another kind from the East. That is why, we in Military Government, are so eager to show Germany the way of the West, by giving them a chance to read and hear about the way of life in America.

"I am glad to feel that I may be playing a part, however small, in combating Communism. You can certainly feel that your gifts of books and magazines that came from a free press is also playing its part. I am sure you will be interested in what the two local papers had to say about the boxes of books from Littlestown I would send the actual clippings but since they are in German, I thought it best to make translation.

Books from the U. S. A.

"The Military Government announces that the library of Military Government has been greatly enriched. Friends and acquaintances of Mr. Lindaman in his native town, the small town of Littlestown with 2,500 inhabitants, had collected books and magazines. Their willingness to give was so great that four boxes have been forwarded. The boxes contained especially many periodicals. Many thanks to the unknown givers for their contribution of material to the idea of understanding between nations."

"I am also taking the liberty of sending you a page from one of the Army papers in Germany about a Youth Government Day which we ran very successfully here in Gunzburg. Apparently this was the first such attempt made in Germany and therefore it received a great deal of publicity from the press and the news reels throughout Germany. To an American such a project does not seem at all unusual, but to a German, the idea is somewhat startling. When I first presented the plan to the officials of the city and county, they were horrified.

"Let Youth take our jobs for a day! Impossible! There will be chaos in the City Hall," objected the mayor, but despite objections, I persisted, explaining that it would be good education for them to see at first hand local government in action.

"I explained that elections would be held in strict conformity with Bavarian election laws and that would give other boys and girls, in addition, to the candidate, an opportunity to see a democratic election in action. Finally the city fathers, still not entirely convinced, agreed to cooperate. As things worked out, everyone seemed delighted and admitted that it had been worthwhile."

3 EXPECTANT MOTHERS HELD BY INEBRIANT

Columbus, Ga., May 7 (AP)—A tall, dark man with a hangover was sought today as the abductor of three young expectant mothers, wives of Fort Benning soldiers.

The three wives returned from Florida by bus Thursday and reported to the Army's Criminal Investigation Department that a drunken man held them captive in his automobile for 12 hours at pistol point.

They had been missing for nearly 17 hours—since they stepped out of the pre-natal clinic at the Fort Enning hospital. An alarm had been spread and army authorities started a wide-spread search, announcing they feared "foul play."

Enticed Into Coupe
Upon their return, word and distraught, they related that a dark-complexioned man more than six feet tall enticed them into a "dark coupe" with a promise to drive them home.

He stopped near midnight at a filling station near the Georgia-Florida state line.

There, the account continued, he became embroiled in an argument with the station keeper over the price of gasoline. The three young women ran first to a rest room, then slipped out and started down the road in the darkness.

A couple picked them up in an auto and drove them to Milton, Fla. Too anxious to get back home to think about telephoning that they were safe, they caught the next bus to Columbus.

One of the young wives is expecting her baby next week. She is Mrs. Mary Ellen Peters, 18, of Toronto, Ohio.

The other two are Mrs. Joyce McMullen, 21, of Scottsville, Ky., and Mrs. Tosca Fazio, 22, an Italian war bride.

Tony Langan, former city golf champion of Syracuse, is the captain of the Syracuse University golf team, this spring.

8 Over 500 Pounds
Eight cows gave between 500-600 pounds of butterfat; 53 gave between 400 and 500 pounds, 145 between 300 and 400 and 228 gave below 300 pounds of butterfat.

Ten cows have produced over 3,000 pounds of butterfat in their lifetime, the records show. Three are in the herd of Edgar W. Weaver, Gettysburg R. 4; three in the herd of Joseph A. Stoner, East Berlin R. 2; one in the A. Irvin Hostetter herd, Hanover R. 4; two in the herd of W. Clayton Jester, Biglerville, and one in the herd of Mrs. Rose Murren, Hanover R. 4. All but two of the cows, one in the Weaver herd and one in Jester's, are still producing.

and troops from Letterkenny Ordnance Depot will take part in the parade May 30, it was announced.

T. J. Weinbrenner, Harry Koch and Attorney Meals were appointed as a committee to mark suitably the over 100 pictures of GAR members, camping scenes and the like in the post rooms. It was pointed out that in future years the pictures will be an invaluable part of the county's historical record and that suitable markings telling who the men are, and giving some details of their activities will become more valuable with each passing year.

The Rev. Willis R. Doyle and G. Henry Roth were appointed as a refreshment committee for the May 20 meeting of the post.

New Oxford

New Oxford—Repairs have been in progress to the roof of the building at the east end, now an apartment building also housing the offices of Dr. Samuel A. Kirkpatrick.

The Franciscan Sisters of Mary will send representatives of their order of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church Sunday morning to receive voluntary offerings from parishioners for their Christian Work. This charity has been especially encouraged by the Most Rev. George L. Leech, Bishop of Harrisburg Diocese.

Mother's Day will be observed Sunday at the local Catholic church when the men of the Holy Name society, each wearing a red or a white carnation in honor of their mothers, living or dead, will attend the early Mass at 7:30 a. m. and receive Holy Communion in a body, along with the remainder of the parish, in prayer for mothers. The Holy Names members will be in charge of supplying carnations to those of the parish who wish to wear them.

The evening of Mother's Day at the church will be devoted to a May procession, an annual custom during this month, in which school children as well as members of the Blessed Virgin Sodality of the church will participate. The Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor, will be in charge of appropriate devotions, concluding with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

During the month of May, there is Mass each weekday morning at 8 o'clock at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church. The Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor, expects all school children to be present at the Mass each morning.

"Aaron Slick From Punkin' Creek," a comedy which has been well received when produced by nearby organizations, was presented Friday evening by the Ladies Aid society of the "Pines" Lutheran church, New Chester.

Members of the St. Vincent de Paul society of the local Catholic church joined with representatives of that society of other nearby Catholic churches at a meeting on Sunday in Hanover.

A banquet for the women and girls of the congregation of the First Lutheran church was conducted at the church property on Thursday, combined with a program of music and entertainment. The guest speaker was Mrs. Helen Hurst, Hanover, who has been working as an instructor of retarded children of school age. In charge of the arrangements was the pastor's wife, Mrs. George E. Sheffer, with her appointed committee.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—The regular monthly meeting of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Joseph's church was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary Reynolds. Sixteen members and the Spiritual Director, Rev. Francis Stauble, were present. Father Stauble gave the opening prayer.

Minutes of the meeting of April 4 were read and approved. Mrs. Guy Topper, consultant of Band No. 5, reported $10 cleared at her evening of games held April 21. The party held Saturday evening, April 30, in the firemen's hall by the entire Sodality netted $90.73.

The next evening of games will be sponsored by Band No. 6, Mrs. Thornton Rodgers, consultant, the date for which will be May 26 instead of the regular evening of May 19.

A discussion was held regarding Blue Cross hospitalization insurance.

of saving and as a matter of patriotism, to help their country. Your job is to show the need of continued bond buying today. Adams counts as of January 1 owned over $7,989,000 worth of bonds. Those were the bonds owned by individuals, not by partnerships, corporations or organizations. That amount not only shows that individuals have a basic backlog of savings but more particularly shows that countians are agreed that the government bonds are a good investment.

Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank and chairman of the county's government savings bond committee, named Carl W. Kane, Gettysburg R. 2, as agriculture chairman for the bond drive; Paul D. Thomas, Gettysburg, and Stanislaus E. Krichten, McSherrystown, chairmen of the payroll division of the county committee; Arthur Bair, Littlestown, and J. D. Krout, East Berlin, banking and finance chairmen; M. P. Hartzell, labor chairman; C. I. Raffensperger, assistant county superintendent of schools, education; Mares Sherman, retail, and Carl A. Baum and Sydney J. Poppay, advertising.

Sees Chance For New Labor Bill Passage

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Rep. Sims (D-S.C.) said today there's an "excellent chance" that within a month the House will pass a new version of the compromise Democratic labor bill it defeated this week.

Sims, who introduced the original compromise, said the new bill may provide for both plant seizure and injunctions in "national emergency" disputes. The defeated Sims bill provided for injunctions only.

A Senate labor bill offered Wednesday by Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Donnell (R-Mo.) and Smith (R-N.J.) contains a "seizure-or-injunction-or-both" provision. This procedure is less objectionable to labor unions than straight injunction power.

Backers of the Senate GOP measure are trying to get active Democratic support for it—a Democratic co-sponsor, if possible.

A letter to the president of the local fire company thanking them for the use of the firemen's hall on Saturday evening, April 30.

The next meeting will be held June 6.

A class for instruction in the catechism leading to confirmation Whit-sunday will be started on Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the Elias Lutheran parish house. Boys and girls above the age of 12 and adults wishing to be admitted to the Holy Communion of the church are invited to come to this class which will meet every Saturday night at 7:30 until Whit-sunday.

The annual convention of the Lutheran Sunday School association of the Western Conference of the Maryland Synod will meet in the Lutheran church, Taneytown, on Thursday, May 19.

The pastor, the Rev. Philip Bower, is planning on organizing a young adult group of people between the age of 25 and 35. This organization will be started within the next several weeks.

BULLETS UPSET TEMPLE OUTFIT BY 8-4 SCORE

After spotting their opponents' three runs in the top half of the first inning, the Gettysburg college baseball team came from behind to defeat Temple university here Friday afternoon 8-4.

Ronnie Fitzkee relieved Don Young in the first inning and twirled fines ball the remainder of the contest to gain credit for the victory.

Four straight hits off Young and another hit by Tibburn produced three Owl runs in the first frame. Singles by Wiand and Cervino, plus an outfielder error on Wiand's blow, gave the Bullets a run in the first.

In the third frame, Wiand singled, moved to second when Cervino drew a pass, moved to third on a wild pitch and then stole home.

Gettysburg took the lead in the fourth after Temple added another run in their half. Hummel walked, Brown singled and Kirker sacrificed. Hummel scored on Fitzkee's fly to right and on a throw to third base the ball went through with Brown and Kirker also romping home.

In the seventh Novak singled and scored on Jones' homerun along the left field foul line.

This afternoon at 2:30 the Bullets clash with F. and M. on the local field.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)
Trenton's Giants inched closer to Wilmington in the Interstate league flag chase today thanks to a neat three-hit pitching performance by bespectacled Don Robertson.

Robertson tied the Sunbury Reds in knots last night after Left Fielder Bob McLean homered in the second inning. The Reds had counted an unearned run in the first inning. Trenton tied the count at 2-2 in the fifth, pushed across the winning markers in the seventh, and won out, 7-2.

Allentown plunged York deeper in the cellar with a 10-7 victory while Lancaster squeezed past Hagerstown 3-2 in other games.

439 Trackmen In MASCAA Meet Here

New York, May 7 (AP)—The middle Atlantic states Collegiate Athletic association's track and field meet at Gettysburg, Pa., May 13 and 14 has attracted 438 athletes from 19 colleges.

The list on entries released yesterday by ASA S. Bushnell, commissioner of eastern college athletics, shows that Lafayette has entered the largest number of runners, jumpers and weightmen. Fifty men will represent the Easton, Pa., school.

Sport Shorts

State College, Pa., May 7 (AP)—Penn State and Army held the lead today in the regional playoffs of the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association. Penn State's defending champions downed Pitt in the opening round yesterday, while Army subdued Cornell.

Morning matches today sent Penn State against Cornell and Army against Pitt. The final round in the afternoon will bring Penn State against Army and Cornell against Pitt. The winning team will compete next week in the eastern championships at River Vale, N. J.

Philadelphia, May 7 (AP)—The Army-Navy football game will be played at Philadelphia's municipal stadium three of the next four years. This was announced yesterday by representatives of the U. S. military and naval academies and Mayor Bernard Samuel.

The contract calls for the 1949 game to be played here November 26 with an option for either the 1950 or 1951 game to be played elsewhere. But, said Capt. Howard H. Caldwell, director of Athletics at Annapolis, "it is unlikely the option will be used."

The option, he said, is "merely to provide a loophole in event something unforeseen occurs which would make it desirable to play one game elsewhere."

BLAZE RAZES LAVISH TRACK

Inglewood, Calif., May 7 (AP)—Hollywood Park, one of America's most lavish race tracks, was razed by a $5,000,000 fire early Friday but some 600 thoroughbred horses were spared. Exact cause of the blaze was not known but police arson squads started immediate investigations because of the speed with which the fire spread. They detained two men and a boy for questioning but released them later.

The fire started in the swank clubhouse of the multi-million dollar plant and leaped, within minutes, through the grandstand and Turf Club. Shortly after the roof and upper walls of the clubhouse and Turf Club burned away, the walls began to crumble. Huge chunks of masonry fell, and sent firemen running for their lives.

One fireman was seriously injured as all available Inglewood equipment plus some from Los Angeles vainly fought the wind-swept blaze. Some three hours after the blaze was first reported at 11 p. m., PST, it was under control.

The stands were a total loss but the valuable horses on hand for the coming meeting were saved because of the stables' location a half-mile from the main racing oval.

News Notes

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The United States and Britain fire their opening guns today in an unprecedented peacetime radio war with Russia.

In an attempt to smash through a Soviet news blockade, they planned to use a battery of 61 transmitters, all blasting at once, to hurl a barrage of Russian-language broadcasts in the direction of Moscow.

Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen announced the campaign yesterday.

London, May 7 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today Britain, France and the United States will hold preliminary talks in Paris before sitting down with Russia in the Big Four Conference on Germany May 23.

The spokesman said the three powers would be represented by "senior persons" at the pre-conference talks. The French Foreign office already has announced that Dr. Philip Jessup, U. S. ambassador-at-large, is flying to Paris this week-end.

London, May 7 (AP)—The United States has called upon the other two nations of the Far Eastern Commission to relax control of Japan's foreign and economic policies. American diplomats reported today.

Gettysburg high school's undefeated baseball season came to an end Friday afternoon when the unbeaten Chambersburg high team scored a 2-0 victory in a South Penn league game played on the Trojan's field.

The game resolved itself into a beautiful hurlers' duel between Ronnie Kump of the Warriors and Miller. Kump permitted but three hits, fanned nine and did not issue a base on balls. Miller gave up four blows, whiffed 11 and walked five.

Chambersburg's runs came in the second frame. Fitzgerald led off with a homerun and after the next batter was retired Waters hit safely to right and when the ball escaped the fielder he also circled the bases.

Ken Biesecker punched out two of Gettysburg's four singles.

Next Tuesday the Warriors meet Shippensburg here in another league game.

Rain proved a blessing to Rollie Schuster, Scranton hurler. Three storms last night added him in pitching a five-inning, 3-0, no-hit game against Williamsport in the Eastern Baseball league.

The 20-year-old right-hander was never in trouble. The game, at Scranton, was delayed twice by downpours and finally halted at the end of the fifth.

Schuster never lost his fast ball or showed the effects of the chilling rain. He struck out six. Two of the four walks he issued came in the fifth, which was completed in a steady drizzle.

Next week's game between East Berlin and York Springs on the latter's field could very easily decide the championship of the Adams County Scholastic Baseball league.

Both teams capped their third straight victories Friday to remain unbeaten in league competition. York Springs trounced Littlestown 10-5 on the latter's field. G. Guise paced the victors with three of his team's nine safeties.

A homerun by Hoopes with K. Myers on third base in the ninth inning, broke up a tight pitchers' battle at East Berlin, the home team defeating Biglerville 3-1. Bill Moul's hurling was again outstanding as he permitted but one hit, a double by Pitzer in the seventh, the only Canner ball to be hit to the outfield. He whiffed 16 and at one stretch retired five batsmen on 14 pitches, four of whom struck out. Pitzer was also an efficient hurler but lacked hitting support.

In a wild game at New Oxford the Boiling Springs team pounded out a 19-1 verdict, scoring in every inning but the fifth. Bream secured four of the Bubbles' 21 safeties.

Riding with Russell

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S. A. E.

In Springtime true love will always find a highway.

Where's It Going?

In seeking the reason for high oil consumption few car owners consider the possibility of actual leakage, the usual fear being that the car is due for new piston rings. Before going off the deep end the situation always calls for checking the valve compartment which may have loose cover plates or poor gaskets. Oil stands in this compartment when the engine is at rest and will leak out if not properly sealed.

Much oil also escapes around the rear of the motor pan and is often mistaken for oil working into the clutch housing past a worn rear main bearing or defective bearing seal. Leakage around the timing gear case is common enough to be considered when oil mileage is low. Don't forget the crankcase drain plug which will leak a lot of oil if loose or if its threads are stripped.

Worried Over Clicks

An uncomfortable number of motorists are worrying these days over annoying clicking noises, just as if this were something new in the motor scene. When such noises are heard with the car in motion the trouble is likely to originate in the speedometer cable. Clicking at idling speed, heard when the car is moving slowly or when standing with the engine running, may be due to wobbling of the distributor shaft. In other cases it is found that the fan blades are touching something. Clicks are commonly found around the wheels, too. They may be due to nothing more serious than a wheel cap.

Keep These In Mind

That air cleaner on the engine isn't just an efficiency frill, so don't drive around with it removed. One of its functions is to serve as a backfire trap.

Rough roads, taken at too high speed, will knock the front end out of alignment quite as effectively as bumping curbs.

If you can get along with that small leak in the cooling system better wait until you have drained off the winter's anti-freeze before you put in some stop-leak solution. Don't use radiator or cleanser because that may make the leak worse.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"As a rule, I'm not one to pass out alibis, but this time I'm making an exception. Here's why:

"My excuse for not solving a customer's problem was none other than our old friend, the weather. When my client brought in his car for some special lubrication he complained about a squeaky spring and a peculiar noise in one of the shock absorbers. Under ordinary conditions I could have solved this with flying colors, but when I took the car out for a test in the rain I couldn't get an unwanted sound out of it. Rain water acted as a temporary lubricant to check those elusive squeaks. When the owner took the car out the next day things were as bad as ever."

Forerunners Of Chance

Believe it or not, accessories sometimes are a clue to coming changes in car design. Just before the center gear shift was discarded in favor of steering post shifting one concern offered a silver plated shift lever ball with your initials engraved on it. Can it be that the flood of new jacks for the car forecast use of jacks built into the car? The finest leaf spring covers were developed just before designers adopted coil springs, and a lot of genius was expended on devices to equalize brakes just before the industry swung over universally to hydraulic braking.

That prodigious producer of automotive books and publications, Floyd Clymer of California, has several new ones to whet the appetite of those who keep their eye to the motor mill. One is titled, "How to Build a Racing Car" which goes into such meaty topics as supercharging and souping up stock engines. Another recent edition is a supplement to the Indianapolis race book which is a "must" if you plan to be an active observer of the 1949 500-mile motor classic. The third new Clymer book to come across my desk is Veda Orr's newly revised "Hot Rod Pictorial." Miss Orr is the only woman member of the Southern California Timing Association. She has been driving what are called Modified and Streamliners on the Dry Lakes of California since 1937, her best time being 132 m. p. h. officially clocked.

No Fooling Here

Some things about the car's front-end geometry come about as a result of normal wear and tear, or tampering by those who do not fully understand the particular make and model, but if the king pin inclination isn't correct it is reasonable to suspect that the parts involved have been bent through misuse of the car. If the history of the car reveals no such conditions, however, then the parts may have been defective. In any event, the situation calls for a replacement.

Slow On Pick-up?

Where an engine develops satisfactory pulling power on hills but is slow on acceleration there's a good chance that it suffers from several conditions that could easily be remedied. Its spark plug points may be spaced too wide, for one thing. In fact, almost any ignition conditions, especially breaker points, will affect the get-away. Acceleration is always unsatisfactory if ignition timing is late. Then there is the possibility that the engine isn't drawing a sufficient amount of gasoline, due perhaps to a little dirt in the carburetor. Important here is the carburetor acceleration pump.

So This Is Driving?

Ever carry a pot of tulips or a canary bird in your car? Foolish transportation, to be sure, but sometimes very enlightening. You will want to make the ride as easy as possible for the fragile blossoms or the nervous little fluff of yellow, but for the first time in your life you find that your gear shifting is anything but smooth and your handling of the brakes a bit on the rough side. A waving tulip really brings one up with a start.

What Motorists Ask

Q. What would cause the motor of my car to run so rough when hot? Idling is entirely normal when the engine is cold. M. B. L.

A. This is likely a fuel condition, something on order of mild vapor lock. Try to get the operating temperature down, and also switch to another brand of gas. Another point to consider is the valve tappet clearance. One or two valves may not be seating when the valves are heated and their stems expanded.

Q. I have been told that I can check a leak in the radiator by putting some chipped soap or soap flakes into the cooling system. Ever hear of this? Wm. L. K.

A. It's an old trick and not recommended because usually a cooling system so treated needs to be boiled out.

Q. My car rides very hard in checked the universal joints themselves and find no appreciable wear. Is it possible for the pinion and ring rear mesh to be loose enough for such slack in the drive line? I might add that there is enough noise in the rear end to indicate any such condition. T. McB.

A. One thing so many owners seem to forget is wear on the splines of the propeller shaft slip joint.

Q. There's a most disturbing squeak somewhere in the front of my car. Can't seem to locate it even though I have checked about everything in sight including the motor mounts. A friend of mine suggests that the noise may be telegraphed from the rear of the car somewhere, but where? S. M. G.

A. What do you want to bet that you have overlooked the hood lacing? This may simply be dry or it may be disintegrated. You can lubricate the lacing with a grease stick.

Q. When my car is at rest with the motor running there is a peculiar noise. The owner of a similar car tells me that this is something in the fluid clutch, but he doesn't know just what is wrong. I should say that the noise is a combination of a grind and a whine. Can you make anything out of this? H. H. G.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE ACHE OF THE HEART

Most of us, sooner or later—become heirs to some sort of ache—in our muscles, bones, ears or teeth. But the most disturbing ache of all is that ache we all experience in life—the ache of the heart.

This is an ache that many people carry with them all their lives, for some reason or other. Mere medicine cannot cure it. Doctors are baffled by it. But it can be cured—at least alleviated. We alone, however, can give it the proper diagnosis. Then it is up to each of us to handle it.

The ache in the heart may come from disappointment, from the loss of a beloved one, from a failure to appraise life's values, from a loss of hope of faith or from a confused mind. Perhaps fears add to this ache of the heart than anything else.

A good cry has often relieved this ache in the heart, but it's only a temporary remedy. What we need most is a reconstructed attitude of mind, a careful appraisal of values, and a return to the fundamental guide-posts of life that are to be revealed in an unflinching faith—as revealed in religion. God in us will wipe out the severest ache of the heart, and point us to the lights just beyond the hills.

We have but to look into the revelations and miracles of Nature to become alert to the forces in human life that carry one into the path of courage and high resolves. This human frame of ours is wrapped in mysteries. Higher laws than those of our own making control our destiny. Be not afraid!

Often, by seeking to relieve the ache in another's heart, our own ache somehow miraculously disappears! By intermixing our joys with those of others, and enumerating our end- less blessings, we suddenly realize that the ache we had wasn't real at all! What we needed was to share ourselves with someone else.

HEREDITY
My grandfather's fingers were skill-ful with things.

They could pry into watches and regulate springs.

They could tighten or loosen—or And whatever was needed my grand- pa could do.

My grandfather's mind, as his fingers, was skilled.

With knowledge most useful, I'd say, it was filled.

When in trouble the neighbors for grandpa would send.

For whatever was broken he knew how to mend.

They say that heredity follows in line.

But skill didn't pass to these fingers of mine.

Machines which grandfather well understood I can't understand, though I wish that I could.

There's nothing that's broken that I can repair.

If grandpa left skill, I was robbed of my share.

And often I've wondered, regretting it, too.

Why I've never known what my grandfather knew.

STEELWORKERS

TAKE LEAD FOR

4TH ROUND RAISE

Pittsburgh, May 7 (AP)—Philip Murray's United Steelworkers are taking the lead in demanding a fourth-round pay boost. And some of Murray's other big CIO unions are going to follow the leader.

John L. Lewis, president of the Unaffiliated United Mine Workers, also wants more benefits for his half-million soft coal diggers.

That's the picture in industrial America today—the "big four" of industry—steel, auto, coal and electrical workers—want more money now and a guarantee of security in the future.

Decide On Demands

The CIO United Steelworkers' Wage Policy Committee ended a three-day huddle of top strategists Thursday by asking not only for an unspecified wage hike but a pension program and health and welfare benefits for 1,116,000 members.

Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers, wouldn't estimate the total cost of his union's demands to the steel industry. He did estimate, however, the insurance program would cost 8-4 cents per man, per hour.

The CIO leader has been in favor of pensions for his members, along with other social security benefits. He's become more insistent on pensions since John L. Lewis obtained them for his UMW members.

The UMW finances its $100-a-month pensions out of a health and welfare fund financed entirely by 20-cents-a-ton royalty payments by coal operators. There's every indication Lewis will ask the operators to up the royalty payments in the contract expiring June 30. And a source close to the bushy-browed UMW chief says Lewis probably will ask a shorter work week—at the same rate of pay as at present.

Throughout Murray's CIO union empire, there's more and more talk about social security for union members. There's talk, too, about wage hikes but the emphasis seems to be on pensions and welfare plans.

The CIO United Auto Workers, for example, has declared pensions the No. 1 objective in forthcoming wage talks. President Walter Reuther hasn't announced a definite wage pattern but has said an increase will be asked. He talks about bringing back the purchasing power of the approximately 1,000,000 UAW members had in June, 1946. To reach that level, Reuther adds, a wage boost of at least eight to 10 cents an hour would be needed.

ASK RULING ON

SALARY RAISES

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Five top state officials today looked to the attorney general's office to determine whether they will receive a legislature-passed salary boost.

The increases were held up late Thursday when Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn requested a formal opinion on the legal questions involved from Attorney General T. McKeen Chidsey. Heyburn himself, would be included under the new pay scale.

"I don't want an increase if I'm not entitled to it and I don't believe anyone else does either," Heyburn explained to newsmen.

In one of its final actions, the 1949 General Assembly hiked the salary of the next governor from $18,000 to $25,000 a year and those of cabinet officers to $15,000. The paychecks of many state board and commission members also were substantially increased.

However, the state constitution bars increases or decreases in salary for any public officials after his election or appointment.

Heyburn was elected auditor general last November and took office last Tuesday, five days after the legislature approved the boost in salary for his office from $12,000 to $15,000 a year.

State Treasurer Charles R. Barber also was elected last fall and took office May 2. He too, would receive $15,000 annually instead of the former $12,000.

Others immediately affected by Heyburn's action include Theodore Roosevelt III, the new commerce secretary; David R. Perry, the new liquor board member, and John B. Conly, public utility commissioner.

Harrisburg, May 7 (AP)—Edmund Wicht, executive director of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association, went to the Hahnemann hospital in Philadelphia, Thursday for a physical checkup. Wicht's office said he would be in the hospital a week or ten days.

TRUMANITES BEING PUSHED AROUND IN D.C.

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The campaign promises of President Truman's Democrats—the promises of what they'd do if they won control of Congress this year which, the did—were beginning to look pretty sad.

On two of the biggest issues—civil rights and a new labor bill—the Truman administration so far has been shown around although neither of those two issues is definitely settled yet.

Republicans and southern Democrats have "earned up on both issues against the Democrats who followed the lead of Mr. Truman and the campaign promises of his Democratic party last November.

Democrats Not Solid

Organized labor and Negroes—one with a big stake in a new labor law and the other with its hopes pinned on new civil rights law—gave huge support to the Truman Democrats in the elections.

For the Trumanites had promised both groups to push through new laws to their liking on civil rights and on labor. The Democrats won control of both Houses of Congress, with a majority in each.

But—

Not all the Democrats, particularly the southern Democrats, follow Mr. Truman's leadership.

Opponents Join Forces

And when the Republicans and southern Democrats join forces—as they have so far on labor and civil rights—Mr. Truman's Democratic followers find themselves in a minority.

Take the labor bill, for example—Labor wanted the Taft-Hartley law knocked out and the old Wagner act restored. The difference between the two laws was simply this: the Wagner act put no restrictions on labor but T-H put on plenty.

So the Trumanites offered a bill in the House to wipe out T-H and bring back the Wagner act, with a few changes. But last week when arguments on a new labor law started a bill introduced by Rep. Wood, Georgia Democrat, got the attention of the Trumanites.

This bill would keep the T-H act except for a few changes pretty much as it was passed in 1947. The Republicans controlled Congress then although a lot of Democrats voted for T-H, too.

Seeing they were losing out, the Trumanites Tuesday tried to get through a compromise bill, a little stronger than their first one. It got knocked aside in a hurry.

Then the House, with Republicans and southern Democrats joining forces, voted for the Wood bill. This was a temporary vote. The vote for the bill Tuesday was 217 to 203.

Trumanites Lost

As for the civil rights issue—There was a pretty good showdown on this earlier in this session when southern Democrats and Republicans joined forces again.

There was a three-week filibuster at that time. It wasn't over the civil rights issue precisely. But the civil rights issue was at the heart of the discussion.

The filibuster was over a change in the rules. If the Trumanites had won they'd have a far chance of getting some kind of action on civil rights bill at this session.

But the Trumanite, lost and the chance of the Senate voting on civil rights this year looks dim.

Peddler of Dreams

Chapter 12

A few days after Thanksgiving, Ma Green's Trailer Camp had a surprise visitor. It was Susan Fleming.

Felicit was busy giving the trailer a thorough cleaning. "I would be!" she wailed hollowly to herself as Susan stood on the bottom step looking at her curiously.

Forgive me for dropping in like this. But I knew you hadn't come to the beach and—well, I wanted you too. So I came over to invite you especially."

"That's awful nice of you," said Felicity and felt a little less uncomfortable because of Susan's matter-of-fact manner. "But we've found a place up north of Jupiter that's not private and nobody seems to mind our using it."

Susan's face flushed a little and she said swiftly, "But you mustn't let the children go swimming just anywhere along the coast. There are places that are unsafe. My beach is always patrolled and the two new bodyguards I've hired for the baby are expert swimmers and ex-lifeguards. The children must learn to swim and since Larry is a bit too young to keep them busy—why don't you let them teach your youngsters?"

"Thank you but I couldn't think of being such a bother—"

Susan put out a beautiful kept hand, on one finger of which a star sapphire caught the sunshine and held it prisoner. "Don't be stuffy," she coaxed gently. "I know my butler was insolent that day, and I'm terribly sorry—but that exquisite child of your who walked away with my baby seemed a very interesting person, and I'm anxious to know the rest of you. Please come over tomorrow afternoon and we'll have a picnic on the beach—please—"

"But—you must be awfully busy—"

Susan was slightly amused.

"I'm a lonely, bored, restless creature and it would be an act of Christian charity, no less, if you would bring the children—and that very nice young man of yours—and come over tomorrow afternoon! Now be a good child and say you will!"

Felicity could think of no more objections and to her own surprise found she really didn't want to offer any more. She yielded as gracefully as she could. Susan smiled and took herself off.

Garrett came over, his hair tousled, his shirt collar open at the throat straight from his morning's work.

"That looked like Susan Fleming," he said as he lounged in the doorway and studied Felicity.

"It was none other," she assured him. "Come to invite us all to a picnic on her private beach beside her private ocean tomorrow afternoon. She wants her sons' bodyguards to teach the children how to swim."

"Does she now?" Garrett was amused impressed.

"And you're invited too," Felicity said and told herself privately she was a fool to feel a very small tinge of jealousy at the memory of the way Susan had said "that very nice young man of yours."

Garrett looked startled.

"Well, I can't swim but I should like to see her. I can swim by myself, he protested.

"I wouldn't know," Felicity invited especially, said Felicity firmly. "Of course I didn't tell her definitely you'd come. I could tell her you were working—"

"Perish the thought," protested Garrett piously and promptly. "I wouldn't miss it for the world. A chance to see how the other half lives—only the Fleming set wouldn't be half would it. There can't be more than half a dozen women in the world with as much money as Susan Fleming has."

Felicity nodded and looked grave. "Somehow it doesn't look like such an awful lot of fun though—having that much money—does it?" She spoke straight from her heart.

Garrett looked down at her amusement and affection nicely mingled in his eyes.

"You're going to make some lucky man a very swell wife some day Fliss my gal," he assured her. Suddenly he didn't feel amused any more. The thought of Felicity as another man's wife wasn't amusing at all. He definitely didn't like it.

"I'm never going to marry," Felicity said, without meeting his eyes. "What—never?"

She looked up at him steadily; and her soft mouth was grave. "How can I?" she asked levelly. "With the youngsters to look after?"

Garrett definitely didn't like that, either.

"Oh, now see here, Fliss, you can't go on sacrificing yourself for the children all your life. You'd make a perfectly swell wife and mother. A girl like you should get married—"

he heard himself protesting sharply.

"He'd have to be a pretty swell man to want to take over the children along with me. And unless he was willing I wouldn't marry him—so—you see?"

Garrett stared at her, frowning obscurely angry, yet not quite sure just what attitude he should take to reveal to her the way he felt.

Felicity ended the moment by saying swiftly, "You'd better run along now, Garry, and get your heroine out of the clutches of the villain. I've got a lot of work to do before the children come home."

And Garrett, feeling as though he had been saved from some very foolish step yet not at all sure that he wanted to be saved took himself off.

The children came in to lunch clamorous with happiness and hunger, wide-eyed with excitement when they heard of Susan's invitation to a picnic the following day.

Ellen who customarily went about with Hector held close in her arms to that worshipful animal's resigned submission, held him more closely as she lifted wild blue eyes to Felicity and said breathlessly, "Did she invite Hector, too?"

Felicity hesitated. The dog looked up at her as though he shared his small mistress' anxiety.

"Well take Hector right along. He'll probably be a riot."

MAETERLINCK, AUTHOR, DIES

Paris, May 7 (AP)—Count Maurice Maeterlinck, famed Belgian author of "The Blue Bird" and other works, died in Nice Friday, the French Press agency reported. He was 86.

Maeterlinck's works are noted for their fanciful beauty. Among the most famous are "Pelleas Et Melisande," made into an opera by the French composer Claude Debussy, "The Blue Bird," "The Life of the Ant," and "The Life of the Bee."

Maeterlinck was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1911.

Most of his later years were spent on the French Riviera, but when the Germans moved on Paris in 1940 Maeterlinck fled to the United States with his wife, arriving in New York Dec. 7, 1940. In January 1941 he made one of his rare public appearances, attending the first English-language presentation of the opera "Pelleas Et Melisande," by the Philadelphia opera company. "The Blue Bird" brought Maeterlinck his greatest popularity in the United States. It was widely popular in the form of a motion picture starring Shirley Temple.

George E. Fainslow, now the Philadelphia Phils pitching coach, won 98 games and lost 58 in six seasons as a pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics.

REDS POUNDING SHANGHAI LINES

Shanghai, May 7 (AP)—Thousands of Chinese Communist troops today hammered with little success at Shanghai's outer defenses, a garrison communiqué asserted.

The communiqué said 15,000 Reds in two groups attacked on two sectors 30 miles west and 35 miles north-west of Shanghai. The defenders assertedly hurled the Reds back with heavy losses.

Another attack still swirled about a third anchor in Shanghai's defense arch—Kashang 50 miles to the southwest. The communiqué indicated the Reds were making little progress here.

Red spearheads however appeared to be thrusting ever deeper into south China along a notched front of more than 300 miles stretching southwestward from the Shanghai area to Nanchang.

Press reports said that Nanchang the city which guards the eastern approaches to the vital Hankow-Canton railroad, was in a state of siege. Chinese Communist columns, already more than 150 miles south of their Yangtze bridgeheads were seizing more stretches of the railway which once linked Shanghai with Nanchang.
